Bolivia Checks Uprising; Leader Takes Own Life

Government Nips Bid By Falangists

Bystanders Struck During Crossfire In La Paz Streets

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — The leader of Sunday's short-lived revolt committed suicide after his rightist uprising was crushed, the government announced today. At least 22 persons were slain, and more than 50 were wounded in the course of the attempted coup.

The government of this poverty-plagued nation said Oscar Unzaga de la Vega, head of the Falange party, took his life Sunday night in a house in the outskirts of this capital in which he had hidden. His bodyguard, Juan Gallardo, also shot himself to death, the government announcement said.

President Hernan Siles Suazo announced the defeat of members of the Falange party who tried to seize the city hall Sunday, attacked an army barracks and marched on the government radio station and municipal offices.

Government forces broke up the attacks and then began a cleanup of Falangist rebels.

Many of the wounded were reported to be bystanders caught in the crossfire between government forces and insurgents.

Two insurgent leaders were captured: Rafael Loayza, a retired colonel, and Luis Saenz.

A government radio station said Siles had declared a state of siege —modified martial law—throughout the country.

There were no reports of trouble outside of La Paz. The government said it held control of all provincial capitals. Official reports from Cochabamba and Oruro said peasants and workers had joined the government militia in controlling those cities.

The Falange is the main opposition to Siles Zuazo's Nationalist Revolutionary Movement (MNR), which led a successful revolution seven years ago and won more than 80 per cent of the votes in national elections in 1956.

The president in a broadcast Sunday night said the revolt was planned by Flanage head Oscar Unzaga de la Vega and Carlos Victor Aramayo, whose large tin properties in Bolivia were nationalized in 1952. Aramayo now lives in Europe.

Nationalization of the tin mines and land reform were the two chief planks in the MNR program, but the tin nationalization particularly has not produced the prosperity the party anticipated.

The country's economic position has worsened steadily despite considerable U.S. aid. Tin miners have struck twice in the past six weeks in protest against higher commissary food prices which the government ordered at the urging of the international monetary fund.

West Virginia Town Struck By High Wind

10 Are Injured As Storm Batters Site In Beckley District

BECKLEY (AP) — A windstorm that struck with a roar and lasted but a few seconds injured 10 persons Sunday night in a small rural community three miles from here.

The wind — apparently a tornado — demolished two small homes and heavily damaged another. It tore the roof off a grocery store and slightly damaged two other dwellings.

All of the damage and injuries occurred in the Oak Grove addition, about a mile from Crab Orchard. Six of the 10 injured still were in Beckley hospitals today, but none was seriously hurt.

The wind hit without warning between 7:30 and 8. Although there was a heavy downpour in Beckley last night, only a light rain preceded the wind in the Crab Orchard area.

The storm destroyed the homes of the James Vernon Dunn and Howard Shrewsbury families and heavily damaged the residence of a family named Tincher.

Dunn, 30; his wife Mildred, 27, and their two children, Lora, 9, and Jackie, 2, were in hospitals today. Mrs. Dunn suffered a broken left leg.

Shrewsbury, 39; his wife Lola, 40, and five Shrewsbury children were at home at the time of the storm. The parents and two children Dola May, 11, and Dennis, 9, received hospital treatment, but only Dennis still was in the hospital today.

Also still hospitalized was 9-year-old Tommy Ray Tincher.

W. E. Cook, 56, a retired railroadman, and his wife were in their home 100 feet from the Dunn residence when the wind struck.

"The house began to bounce like a rubber ball. I couldn't hear a thing, but thundering. I didn't know what it was. It lasted not over five seconds," Cook said.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Long and their 8-year-old daughter, who live 50 yards from the Shrewsburys, were watching a television western. When the wind hit, the Longs went to their basement for safety.

"I got so scared I don't know what happened," Mrs. Long said.

Pretty soon part of the Shrewsbury family came to the Long home and the Longs gave Shrewsbury first aid for a cut.

13 States Put On Alert For 'Lost' Family

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — State police put out a 13-state alert today for a Butler County family reportedly long overdue on a trip back home from Beloit, Ohio.

The family left Beloit, in Mahoning County, last Thursday after visiting Mrs. Anna Mae Armitage, daughter of Chester Perkins, 54. Perkins, with his wife Elizabeth, 48, his father, John, 79, and a son, Harry, 26, are being sought.

Mrs. Ethel Lombardozzi, daughter of the elder Perkins, told state police she had not heard from the four since they left Beloit. She said they were due back at their home in nearby Fenelton last Thursday.

Mrs. Lombardozzi resides in Butler. Fenelton is about 90 miles from Beloit.

Mrs. Armitage said in Beloit that none of the four mentioned the possibility of further visiting but had talked of returning home.

Mrs. Armitage said she checked with a sister, Mrs. Ethel Ward of Alliance, Ohio, and another sister, Mrs. Eleanora Gerber of Pittsburgh, by telephone, but neither had heard from the missing persons.

State police at Butler said they have alerted law enforcement departments in 13 states surrounding Pennsylvania to be on the lookout for the four persons but have heard nothing.

Cleanup Will Continue Tuesday In First Ward

Launched this morning in lower East End, the citywide spring cleanup will continue Tuesday in the eastern half of the First Ward.

Collections are scheduled Tuesday on these streets: Globe St., Etruria St., Cleveland Ave., Palissey St., Wedgewood St., Holliday St., Park Ave., Alpha St., Oakland Ave., Price St. Valley Ave., Elizabeth St., Putnam St. Harvey Ave., Ohio Ave., Michigan Ave. and Little England.

As trucks start their rounds at 7 a. m., trash should be placed at the curb or property line the night before the scheduled collection, Incinerator Supt. James McKinnon said.

Surplus Food Supply Waited At Fire Station

3-Day Distribution Scheduled To Open For City Tuesday

The first distribution of surplus food in East Liverpool under the county's new program will be held Tuesday from 9 a. m. to noon at Central Fire Station.

Robert Bycroft, county welfare director, said the surplus food also will be distributed here on Wednesday and Thursday mornings and on Friday morning at Wellsville City Hall.

Applicants must have cards from the county welfare office at Lisbon to obtain food, including flour, rice, corn meal, dried milk and butter.

Those who qualified had to be receiving some form of assistance, such as relief, aid for the aged, aid for the blind or similar programs, as of April 1, Bycroft explained.

Those who applied for or received assistance after April 1 will not qualify for surplus food until the May distribution, he said.

The food is being distributed today in Salem. The department distributed food to 260 persons last week at the Columbiana storage center.

The food for East Liverpool and Wellsville will be trucked daily from Columbiana.

Ware Strike Continues As Both Sides Sit Tight

Both management and union representatives were sitting tight today as a general pottery strike, which has idled some 3,500 in five area plants, entered its sixth day.

Spokesmen for the U.S. Potters Association and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said no plans have been made to resume contract negotiations.

The USPA spokesman said no additional word has been received from Herbert Schutzman, an examiner from the Pittsburgh office of the National Labor Relations Board, on "unfair labor practice" charges filed against the IBOP.

'Forced Into Exile'

Red China Seems Stunned By Dalai Lama's Charges

TOKYO (AP) — Red China apparently has been stunned by the Dalai Lama's insistence that it savagely suppressed the Tibetan independence movement and forced him into exile.

This is suggested by the sudden interruption of the plenary sessions of the Chinese Parliament in Peiping, and the official silence the Reds have maintained toward the fugitive young ruler's statement.

The Communists have been insisting that the Tibetan rebels forced the Dalai Lama to flee with them. The Reds seem to have counted on Prime Minister Nehru muzzling his guest in the interests of Chinese-Indian relations already strained by events in Tibet.

The Chinese people's congress went into a two-day recess Saturday soon after it opened, possibly to permit Mao Tze-tung, Premier Chou Enlai and other top Reds to examine the new situation created by the Dalai Lama's accusations.

The Chinese delay in replying to these charges—which have seriously damaged Peiping's prestige in Asia — indicates that they were caught flat-footed.

They have had nearly a month to prepare for the possibility that the Dalai Lama would reach haven in one of Tibet's neighboring countries and disclose the truth of the situation in his homeland.

Village Crews Bypass Slide, Restore Water

IRONDALE — Full water service was restored to village homes Saturday night when workers completed installation of an auxiliary water main, bypassing a massive land slide along Salt Run Rd. which broke the major link with the water works Wednesday.

Despite persistent rainfall over the weekend, the 60,000-ton hillside section continued to creep only slightly, according to village officials.

The 70-yard-long section, which has heaved the roadway and almost dammed Salt Run, broke the water main and power lines Wednesday, forcing Ohio Power Co. crews to re-route a 4,000-volt line to the water works pumps.

A bulldozer was kept at the site over the weekend to ditch the creek bed past the face of the slide so the stream can continue to flow without being blocked.

Voting Leans To Socialists In Germany

Adenauer's Party Expected To Keep Control, However

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party is expected to retain control of the state governments in Lower Saxony and Rhineland-Palatinate despite Socialist election gains.

Both of West Germany's major parties picked up support in the elections Sunday of new legislatures in the two states. The Socialist gains were slightly larger.

The Christian Democrats retained their majority in the Rhineland-Palatinate House.

In lower Saxony—a traditional labor stronghold — the Socialists were still the biggest party but again lacked a majority. The Socialist-Christian Democrat coalition government was expected to continue, with the Adenauer party having the dominant voice because of backing from the third-place German party.

Rebel Attacks Snarl Voting By Algerians

ALGIERS (AP)—Voting in Algeria's week-long municipal elections limped along today with rebel threats and attacks keeping the turnout small.

Unofficial reports said at least 16 persons had been killed and nearly 70 wounded so far by rebel terrorists seeking to sabotage the voting ordered by the French.

The voting began Sunday. In the city of Algiers, 45 per cent of those eligible balloted. In the countryside — where the French army is in direct control—some 60 per cent braved the threat of rebel reprisal.

Early returns from three wards in Algiers gave a lead to an extreme right wing faction favoring Algerian integration with France and an end to the government of President Charles de Gaulle.

Although only municipal offices are at stake, the campaign centered on a struggle between backers and opponents of de Gaulle.

Would Withhold Fees

DiSalle Stresses Gambling Order

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle repeated today that the state will withhold liquor permit fees from communities where officials wink at gambling.

He said the state collected and distributed more than 8½ million dollars in such fees to local governments last year.

The governor said the money, which goes into the general fund of counties, municipalities and townships, was intended to help prevent gambling and vice. Ohio law is specific in giving authority for the state to withhold the money if violations persist.

Friday, the governor announced formation of a three-member Cabinet committee to examine all phases of state authority to control gambling and vice. Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch heads the group. His enforcement chief said some 200 reports on gambling in the state have been made.

DiSalle recently warned that all forces of the state will be mobilized to stamp out gambling and vice, with or without cooperation of local authorities.

Grand juries investigated gambling in Jefferson and Belmont counties but returned no indictments in the latter county.

The governor said he will send a special message on horse racing to the Legislature Wednesday.

"It will propose some changes and reasons for them," the governor said. He declined to elaborate.

Earlier, DiSalle indicated that he favors a czar to oversee horse-racing in Ohio. He has expressed displeasure over activities of the state Racing Commission and has called for increased taxes on parimutuel betting at race tracks.

Zoltan Gombos resigned last week from the Racing Commission. DiSalle declined comment on a newsman's question about reports "that politicians got Gombos."

"Zoltan resigned," DiSalle said. "I feel that he has done a great deal for racing over the years. He had come to the point where his interests were otherwise. He wanted to be a participant instead of a regulator. I wouldn't wonder if he would wind up in some active role—some new active role."

Citizen Group Testifies

'Giveaway Philosophy' Hit In Attack On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A citizens group told Congress today there is a "giveaway philosophy" in foreign aid which encourages waste, extravagance and corruption at home and abroad.

It criticized military aid on the grounds that "if war comes there is a strong possibility that to survive, many of our allies will elect neutrality lest they be incinerated."

The volley of criticism came from the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee in testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Spokesmen for the group were its chairman, Walter Harnischfeger, president of the Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee; and its national director, retired army Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, Washington.

The group, which says it is not isolationist, earlier had asked that foreign aid be cut in half now and abolished in three years.

The Foreign Affairs Committee is hearing testimony on President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program.

The group had argued before that North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are not an effective war deterrent.

Fellers said "excessive expenditures for conventional weapons—meaning the Army and the surface fleet—which cannot be decisive against the enemy, our extension of aid to doubtful allies who can be blackmailed into neutrality lest they be incinerated, and the global diffusion of our effort are all a waste of means which could spell our doom."

30 Defendants Await Arraignment At Lisbon

LISBON — Thirty persons will enter pleas Wednesday at arraignment before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard on 26 indictments returned by the Grand Jury April 9.

There are 18 burglary counts; two for armed robberies; one for a concealed weapon; one for receiving and concealing stolen goods; one shooting to wound; one forgery; one sodomy and felonious assault and one non-support.

Local Union 124 will meet at Westgate School, Tues., Apr. 21st, 7:30 p. m. Important to be there. By order of Pres.—Ad.

Soviet Denies Planes Prowl Air Corridor

Statement Issued After Reports That MIGs Patrol Area

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Embassy denied today that MIG fighters have begun regular patrols in the air corridors linking isolated West Berlin and West Germany. There was a similar denial from American officials.

The Soviet Embassy issued its statement in East Berlin after reports circulated abroad that a Soviet fighter squadron had been assigned to patrol West Berlin's airlifelines.

"This report is not true," said J. W. Beburov, the chief Soviet spokesman. "There has been no change in the air corridor situation on our side. The only change has come from the American side."

He was referring to U.S. insistence that its Air Force planes have the right to fly to West Berlin above the Soviet-specified 10,000-foot ceiling.

Soviet MIGs have buzzed three U.S. Air Force transports within the last four weeks when they flew at altitudes above 10,000 feet, which Moscow claims must be reserved for Communist aircraft crossing the corridors.

The United States holds that its new transports operate more efficiently at higher altitudes and will be dispatched to Berlin at high altitudes whenever necessary.

Loss Fixed At $11,000 After Fire In Wellsville

Damage was estimated at $11,000 today in a fire which razed a section of the Miller Builders Supply Co., 1739 Commerce St., Wellsville, just before noon Saturday.

The fire was concentrated in a 50-x-100-foot block building housing tar paper, molding, paint, sacks of charcoal, nails and hardware supplies.

The loss was covered by insurance, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis. The cause has not been determined. Nineteen men fought the blaze for about 90 minutes. The alarm was received at 11 a. m.

Some of the damage was caused by heavy smoke from the burning tar paper and water. Arthur Miller of Route 39 owns the firm. He commended the firemen for their work in keeping the blaze from spreading.

He said the state collected and distributed more than 8½ million dollars in such fees to local governments last year.

The governor said the money, which goes into the general fund of counties, municipalities and townships, was intended to help prevent gambling and vice. Ohio law is specific in giving authority for the state to withhold the money if violations persist.

Friday, the governor announced formation of a three-member Cabinet committee to examine all phases of state authority to control gambling and vice. Liquor Director Richard C. Crouch heads the group. His enforcement chief said some 200 reports on gambling in the state have been made.

DiSalle recently warned that all forces of the state will be mobilized to stamp out gambling and vice, with or without cooperation of local authorities.

Grand juries investigated gambling in Jefferson and Belmont counties but returned no indictments in the latter county.

The governor said he will send a special message on horse racing to the Legislature Wednesday.

"It will propose some changes and reasons for them," the governor said. He declined to elaborate.

Earlier, DiSalle indicated that he favors a czar to oversee horse-racing in Ohio. He has expressed displeasure over activities of the state Racing Commission and has called for increased taxes on parimutuel betting at race tracks.

Zoltan Gombos resigned last week from the Racing Commission. DiSalle declined comment on a newsman's question about reports "that politicians got Gombos."

"Zoltan resigned," DiSalle said. "I feel that he has done a great deal for racing over the years. He had come to the point where his interests were otherwise. He wanted to be a participant instead of a regulator. I wouldn't wonder if he would wind up in some active role—some new active role."

Citizen Group Testifies

'Giveaway Philosophy' Hit In Attack On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A citizens group told Congress today there is a "giveaway philosophy" in foreign aid which encourages waste, extravagance and corruption at home and abroad.

It criticized military aid on the grounds that "if war comes there is a strong possibility that to survive, many of our allies will elect neutrality lest they be incinerated."

The volley of criticism came from the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee in testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Spokesmen for the group were its chairman, Walter Harnischfeger, president of the Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee; and its national director, retired army Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, Washington.

The group, which says it is not isolationist, earlier had asked that foreign aid be cut in half now and abolished in three years.

The Foreign Affairs Committee is hearing testimony on President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program.

The group had argued before that North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are not an effective war deterrent.

Fellers said "excessive expenditures for conventional weapons—meaning the Army and the surface fleet—which cannot be decisive against the enemy, our extension of aid to doubtful allies who can be blackmailed into neutrality lest they be incinerated, and the global diffusion of our effort are all a waste of means which could spell our doom."

Soviet Denies Planes Prowl Air Corridor

Statement Issued After Reports That MIGs Patrol Area

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Embassy denied today that MIG fighters have begun regular patrols in the air corridors linking isolated West Berlin and West Germany. There was a similar denial from American officials.

The Soviet Embassy issued its statement in East Berlin after reports circulated abroad that a Soviet fighter squadron had been assigned to patrol West Berlin's airlifelines.

"This report is not true," said J. W. Beburov, the chief Soviet spokesman. "There has been no change in the air corridor situation on our side. The only change has come from the American side."

He was referring to U.S. insistence that its Air Force planes have the right to fly to West Berlin above the Soviet-specified 10,000-foot ceiling.

Soviet MIGs have buzzed three U.S. Air Force transports within the last four weeks when they flew at altitudes above 10,000 feet, which Moscow claims must be reserved for Communist aircraft crossing the corridors.

The United States holds that its new transports operate more efficiently at higher altitudes and will be dispatched to Berlin at high altitudes whenever necessary.

Loss Fixed At $11,000 After Fire In Wellsville

Damage was estimated at $11,000 today in a fire which razed a section of the Miller Builders Supply Co., 1739 Commerce St., Wellsville, just before noon Saturday.

The fire was concentrated in a 50-x-100-foot block building housing tar paper, molding, paint, sacks of charcoal, nails and hardware supplies.

The loss was covered by insurance, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis. The cause has not been determined. Nineteen men fought the blaze for about 90 minutes. The alarm was received at 11 a. m.

Some of the damage was caused by heavy smoke from the burning tar paper and water. Arthur Miller of Route 39 owns the firm. He commended the firemen for their work in keeping the blaze from spreading.

Local 172 will hold special meeting in Room 1 IBOP Hall tonite April 20th 7:30 p. m. All members must be present to sign for strike benefits. By order of Pres. — Ad.

Polio Shot Bill In Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Polio shots for school beginners is the question before the Ohio House today.

The measure by Rep. William P. Day (D—Cuyahoga) would require inoculation against poliomyelitis unless parents object in writing.

Boards of education may provide for shots if parents are unable to pay for them.

The bill is the first order of business when the House returns from weekend adjournment at 4:30 p.m. The Senate convenes a half hour earlier.

Majority Democrats in the Senate plan to caucus tonight on the beleaguered sales tax increase bill, major revenue raiser for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's big spending program.

Failure of the Senate Taxation Committee to agree on some increases, and elimination of the tax stamps, has stalled the bill's progress. A final hearing is set for Wednesday. Action in the House Tuesday will focus on an administration-backed proposal to increase the state tax on cigarettes. DiSalle asked for a boost of two cents a pack but a committee cut it to one cent.

Leaders of the Democrat majority said they expect the cut to be restored on the floor before passage of the bill. The two cent increase would cost smokers 46 million dollars more a year.

Senate leaders try for a vote this week on a measure to boost maximum unemployment benefits from $33 to $47 a week. The bill also would increase from two to three the number of allowable dependents, including the spouse, at $3 a week each. The maximum benefit period would go from 26 weeks to 39 weeks. Ohio now pays benefits for 39 weeks but the final 13 weeks are on a temporary bases.

Father And Son Unique In Legion Memberships

An East Liverpool father and son, whose service in American Legion Post 4 won them life memberships, comprise the first such combination in the Ohio Legion and possibly in the entire nation.

Howard Parson, 62, veteran of World War I, and John Parsons, 26, who served in the Navy in Korean waters during the Korean War, represent the unique combination.

Post 4 has bestowed 24, more than any other in the state, based on the ratio of membership.

The father has been a member of the post for over 30 years and received his life membership about a year ago for meritorious service. He has been on numerous committees and held several offices.

The son received his "gold card" recently for his work as post representative in the activities of the high school Key Club in conducting teen - age dances each weekend in the post's Memorial Home. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons serve as chaperones.

Clues Lacking In Search For Missing Pair

CLARKSBURG (AP) — The whereabouts of two missing Clarksburg women remained a mystery to weary state police officials.

CLARKSBURG (AP) — The whereabouts of two missing Clarksburg women remained a mystery to weary state police officials.

Mrs. Juanita Ferguson, 50, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54, disappeared the night of April 8 while motoring homeward from Beckley, where they had been to a garden club function.

The last place they definitely were identified was at Sutton, 72 miles south of Clarksburg on U.S. 19, which runs between Beckley and here.

State Police Capt. C. L. Walker, commander of Co. A headquarters at nearby Shinnston, has declared searching officers have had no concrete clue in the 11-day-old mysterious disappearance.

Ohio's accidental death toll was relatively low this weekend, thanks, in part, to an accident-free Friday night.

It wasn't until well into Saturday morning that Ohio recorded its first traffic victim. By the time the Associated Press' survey period ended at midnight Sunday, nine accidental deaths had been reported. Seven victims died in traffic accidents, one drowned and another asphyxiated.

Last weekend, Ohio's accidental death count reached 20, and the weekend before, 13.

Takes Two Images To Make A System

The resignation of Meade Alcorn from the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee has stimulated still more interest in the "Republican image." Chairman Alcorn was one of many Republicans who insisted the image had to be changed before the party could recover its losses in Congress.

There probably isn't enough dissent from that viewpoint to make an argument. Everybody can agree that something must be changed before the Republican party can be a favorite in a congressional election again. But no one can agree that a party changes its "image" the way a woman takes off one hat and puts on another.

Political parties in the two-party system are made to seem what they appear to be by public reaction from whatever the opposition is doing.

This is another way of saying what voters know to be true — that candidates do not win elections; they lose them.

WHEN THE Republican party won a congressional majority and the presidency in 1952, its path was cleared for the triumphal procession by the brooms of public opinion. There was a "mess" to be cleaned up in Washington. Harry Truman and government by crony had worn out public patience.

Suddenly, the Republican party's "image" was infinitely more attractive than it had been at any time since the Coolidge-Hoover era. But in fact nothing had been done to change the "image." With all due respect to Dwight Eisenhower's attractiveness as an individual and a war hero, he had little bearing on anything connected with the "image" of the party whose nomination he won.

"Mister Republican" at that time was the late Robert A. Taft, whose memorial on Capitol Hill was dedicated last week. And Taft, in the possibility mistaken opinion of the party stalwarts who were riding high in 1952, was not as good a bet to win the election as Eisenhower.

As it turned out, the "mess in Washington" had dirtied the Democratic "image" so completely that any Republican could have won it.

INSTEAD OF BEING concerned solely about the way they look, it behooves Republicans to be concerned about the Democrats, too.

They are beginning to look more and more like William Jennings Bryan, for one thing —like the popular image of Bryan, that is. He has come down to us in history as a man who was more interested in doing tricks with money than in protecting its value for the benefit of savers.

Thanks to its unreconstructed rebels who dominate congressional committee chairmanships, the Democratic party's resemblance to the southern-fried Sen. Claghorn of radio fame also is striking.

Then there is a still further resemblance to the original Siamese twins, who were really two versions of the same thing, except they could not be considered separately because without each other they would have perished.

There is the Democratic party of the North and West that could not live without the Democratic party of the South, with which the North and West have nothing in common except a name. There is Orval Faubus and there is Humbert Humphrey. There is John F. Kennedy and there is James Eastland.

There is Texas, which tells the House of Representatives and the Senate what to do, through Rep. Rayburn and Sen. Johnson, and there are Democrats from contested northern districts and two-party states who sometimes get tired of doing it.

There must be Democrats worried about the "image" of their party, too.

Budget Security For National Defense

One of those old familiar tunes high on the list of the Spendocrats' hit parade is being yodeled again.

This particular one is a "blues" number. Its lyric bewails efforts to keep the U.S. defense budget in line as a willingness to sacrifice national safety to an "economy fetish."

The vocalist that comes to mind is Sen. Henry Jackson, who echoed that charge in an address the other night.

The trouble with the tune is that, like most choruses written for mass appeal, it is so concerned with the catchy phrase that it yields reason to rhyme.

The implication of the Washington Democrat's speech, for instance, was that the nation's security is too vital to be restricted by budgets.

The fact is, however, that the nation's security is too vital to be subverted by wasteful extravagance.

Common sense dictates that an expenditure of 40 billion dollars be accompanied by some assurance that we are getting our money's worth. If the defense budget can reach that level in the process of careful scrutiny, the heights to which it could rise if unquestioned are simply unimaginable.

Beyond the quality of the policy program itself, there is the fact that an establishment so vast as the Pentagon offers endless opportunities for bureaucratic error and waste.

At about the same time Sen. Jackson was making his plea for unlimited defense money, one of his colleagues reported the fact that an audit had shown the Air Force permitted a $1,133,510 overcharge in a cost-plus contract with a manufacturer. The overcharge grew out of an error made by the contractor and undetected by the military.

Transcending all the policy and administrative considerations, however, is the stark reality that fiscal overextension could play into Russia's hands just as surely as a too-restricted defense system.

This has come from the mouths of various Communist leaders themselves from time to time.

It is this consideration that leads wise policy-makers to be concerned with what the senator glibly calls a "budgetary fetish."

A solid financial footing is just as vital to America's security as a solid military machine.

At today's prices, it takes a lot of budgeting to have either one.

Oldtimer On 'Thrift'

By Frank Tripp

This three-generation story comes from an anonymous old fellow who in one lifetime has watched extravagance and debt all but wipe thrift off the American scene. He signed himself "Oldtimer."

"When you wrote about the crooked old company store, I began to see daylight about this inflation business," his letter starts.

Fanny says that I harp too much about inflation; that readers don't understand my stuff. My mail shows that it is the experts and economists who are not understood. That statistics need to be translated into ten dollar bills and people. Oldtimer did it, if I never have.

Few expounders on economics ever experienced the privation of family living costs beyond their reach, with no place to turn for life's sheer necessities save staggering debt, often not even that escape.

Such hardship is something the Roosevelts, Harrimans and Rockefellers never knew—and vote-wheedling legislators try to repair with the afflicteds' own earnings.

BEING ON SUCH a spot does something to you that you never forget. I've been there; so I "harp" in a wee, small voice, that inflation and extravagance are synonymous.

That soaring taxes and spiraling wages feed the demon; that the little man's weapon is his vote against government waste and handouts; that he is the sucker who pays it all back in taxes and prices of everything he buys. That "federal aid" and "state aid" are the biggest political humbugs since Boss Tweed.

But let's listen to Oldtimer: "My father was a woodsman and in the 1880s we lived in a company house. He was supposed to get $1.75 a day, not bad pay those days. In money he never averaged 50 cents a day.

"To hold his job he had to buy everything at the company store, at whatever prices the shysters charged. Each month it all was added up, including $8 for rent and $2 for fuel, which was waste from the company sawmill. Near all of his wages went right back to the company.

"When Pop had $7 to $10 in cash coming, it had been a wonderful month; provided he didn't owe it to the company doctor."

That was the price-wage situation that started the rat race in which wages never catch up to prices; no more than they did at the company store. Both must stop the spiral—or else. And it's not a pretty "else."

OLDTIMER THEN carries his observation into the third generation: "I showed your article to my boy, who is doing right well, I thought. He didn't think much of it. He allowed that his grandfather had it over him like a tent, times considered.

"He figured he's paying worse robber prices than gramp did; that the company store racket at least gave gramp his house, fuel, food, clothes, all of his necessities; and still left him some 15 per cent of his wages in spendable cash. He said he'd settle for that any day; and I thought, 'me too.'

"Then the kid spilled the beans and proved your point. He said that gramp's margin might get him out of debt. He's in over his head. Wtih $22.50 pay a day, more than 13 times gramp's $1.75, creditors own his shirt.

Oldtimer concluded: "Now I know what's inflation. It's both government and people wanting the moon, and getting it, come hell or high water. The kid's grandfather never earned over $4.50 a day in his life. When he died he owned a nice home, the house next door, had money in the bank, and all that he owed was that month's gas bill. Today they get big dough; but the codfish millionaires don't hang onto any of it. Their 'company store' is the prices that their own greed creates."

Let's see some economist write a better thesis on inflation. Thank you, Oldtimer.

The Clincher

Some say the psychological turning point when winter is left behind is the opening of another baseball season.

Others, remembering that baseball starts when the moguls say it should start, prefer to stick with the calendar. They leave winter behind when April is half gone without having produced a blizzard.

Then there are some, no doubt, who think the turning point has been passed when it's time for the track and field men to practice their obscure arts. For others it may be the beginning of road repairs.

Or it could be spring housecleaning.

Or the momentous day when the coach pits last year's varsity against next fall's varsity in the big game that highlights spring football practice.

But for most of the psychological turning point is the blooming of daffodils and the flowering of forsythia. Only then is it credible that winter finally has been left behind.

There's An Old Adage About Cooks

'Statehood For New York City'

War Cry Gains Favor Among Gotham Residents

"Statehood for New York City," a war cry raised recently by one of the city's newspapers, now seems rooted in popular fancy.

Since statehood dust was tossed into the public's eye a few weeks ago, it has become a major topic of irritated conversation, on buses, commuter trains, and subways.

In taxicabs, of course, it has become a topic for "look Mac" oratory, not conversation. A car passenger, as nearly as can be determined, hasn't had a chance to express his views on statehood since the idea first came to light.

Last week, in half-serious frames of mind, 23 New York City councillors endorsed a somewhat redundant study of statehood's "possibility and legality."

THE LONE DISSENTER, Republican Councillor Stanley M. Isaacs, had been shouting "Down With Tammany" too long to go along with his Democratic confreres now, even on such an obviously light-hearted mission as this one.

There seems to be plenty of evidence however, that in this instance, council is running parallel to the fellow who opines "so-and-so ought to be shot." No one translates him literally. But there has to be irritation.

Council may not want to murder the bonds which tie city and upstate New York but they're hopping mad about real or imagined grievances suffered at the hands of Albany. At that, bones of contention are probably more real than otherwise, for an economist would have a hard time proving that New York City couldn't run its own state ranch and save money doing it.

The city pays about 55 per cent of the state's taxes, in return for 37 per cent of the total revenue. But the possibility about city statehood is nothing new.

The first time secession became a major topic of conversation was during the reign of Tammany Mayor Fernando Wood, a hard-headed Manhattan businessman who was supposed to have an uncanny aptitude for gauging public opinion.

(His pre-Tweed administration, incidentally, had a reputation for being far from spotless. Witness a Wood eulogy entitled "A Model Mayor," which rolled off the presses in 1855. Hard on its heels came a somewhat more critical epic called "A Biography of Fernando Wood, A History of the Forgeries, Perjuries and Other Crimes of Our 'Model' Mayor.")

In a rather pompous annual message to the peasants, on Jan. 7, 1861, Mayor Wood went so far as to predict that the Union was not long for this earth. In the same breath, he proposed that New York City should "disrupt the bonds" which subjected it to "upstate tyranny."

"THEN, AS NOW, upstate New York was a Republican stronghold and the most biting Democratic simile for Albany was "Tyranny.")

Mayor Wood's proposal actually went a step farther than statehood. In view of the imminent shattering of the Union, he felt New York should become a free city, imposing nominal tariffs on imports. Either the Civil War, or plain indifference, blocked its path. At any rate, it never got to the legislative level.

This time, very few responsible people are taking the statehood proposal seriously. Proof is that the majority of those who have this particular bee in their bonnets can think of little else but what the new state would be called.

States of "Manhattan," "South New York," "Gotham" and "New Amsterdam" have all been given the once over. Less pressing problems, such as the legislation which separates the city from statehood, have been all but ignored.

City Council's investigation committee, observers feel, spells nothing but "nuisance value" in the city's heated economic struggle with Gov. Rockefeller and Albany.

The city is casting a jaundiced eye on the $1,100,000,000 extracted from New Yorkers by the state last year. Little of this, the Democratic Council contends, will find its way home.

That kind of money is no laughing matter. It may be that statehood isn't either.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: As you should know by this time, I am the original underdog man. There has to be an underdog for every top-dog.

Noah had the right idea — two of everything. Preferably more, if you have room. Six of one and a half dozen of the other. It takes competition just as much as it takes cooperation to make this world move.

Or to be blunt, I do not expect to shed a single tear or lose a moment's sleep because my fellow citizens have lost the illusion they are without any rival on earth.

The clipping you sent me about the great disillusionment made me feel elated, not depressed. If we are half as good as we used to think we were, we'll still be good enough to win our share of the close ones.

And if we are as good as we need to be, we'll learn to stand our losses with dignity and self-respect. I always admire the basketball teams that lose by a single point, usually the result of an official's decision about a foul. I have nothing but admiration for football players who leave the field with their heads high after losing by a fluke.

For every winner there has to be a loser, and I see no discredit in losing if you did your best. It takes more guts to lose a few than to win 'em all.

The question is whether Americans have the guts to see merit in the competition they have been giving lip service to all their lives. It is barely possible we have lost the knack of standing up after being knocked down.

We may have become so entranced by the American success story that we won't be able to handle the disappointments of an era in which we will have to settle for what we can get, instead of what we wanted to get. I don't know.

But if we can't, we won't belong in the big leagues. We will be bushers. This is going to be the ultimate test of our fiber, if you will forgive me for sounding like a moralist.

All my life I've winced at the prevalence of bluster in my country. It puts my teeth on edge when our sword-rattlers pop off, as some of them have been doing lately. It gave me the willies when we talked about making the world safe for democracy, though we hadn't made the United States safe for democracy — and when we lectured other people for doing things we never had learned to do right in our own country.

You know something? Until you have been the underdog, you don't know how to fight. That is where you learn the tricks. If you're worth saving, your chances of being saved are better when you have had the experience of coming from behind.

We used to know all about underdogs in this country. We had to come from behind to survive. I think it will be good for us to find out again what it feels like to sweat and worry and leave blood-stained footprints in the snow of Valley Forge.

Competition is what the doctor ordered to keep us in shape. Do you suppose it is possible that some of our "beatniks" who loll around mush - mouthing nonsense about the futility of being alive might see things differently if they were obliged to prove they had enough gumption to keep living? It's just a passing thought.

I really believe competition is indispensable and that survival of the fittest is the secret of human progress. If America is ready to admit that the struggle is getting tougher and that Yankee virtue is not its own reward, as the clipping said, I am going to double my bets.

Regards to the family and fellow strugglers everywhere.

Some Reds May See Red

By William L. Ryan

Middle East Could Backfire On Communists

Some State Department analysts are intrigued by a chance that what seems a brilliant Communist success in the Middle East may prove to be a troublesome and even dangerous headache for Moscow.

The speculation seems justified that events in Iraq can cause trouble for the Kremlin. Soviet Communists for years cheerfully based their confidence on what they called capitalist contradictions. They have many of their own—perhaps more than the West has suspected. One seems to be emerging now.

Deep-rooted Russian imperialist tradition and the awkwardly inflexible dogma of Marxism-Leninism may be colliding with 1959 impatience.

A clue came early this year from the 21st party congress in Moscow, attended by Communist leaders from all over the world. Developing at that moment was the Iraq situation, with its look of golden opportunity.

To the Great Russians here was a chance to realize what the czars had vainly dreamed of for centuries: a foothold on the Persian Gulf. To the Communists, here was a chance to establish controlling influence for the first time in an important Arab oil producing area. But two things were in they way—Russian tradition and Communist dogma.

Moving out restlessly for centuries from the duchy of Muscovy, the Russians did not overleap land barriers. In modern times, communism was imposed upon nations only where there was bordering Communist territory. Turkey and Iran lie between the U.S.S.R. and Iraq.

Communists label Iraq feudal, colonial and dependent. Dogma would require that Iraq now develop her "national bourgeois" (middle class) revolution to the point where a significant industrial proletariat would be the excuse and the instrument for seizing power.

But what about local Communists? Should they forego opportunities because of traditions and outdated dogma? Could they be faithful indefinitely without prospect of victory in their own lands and rewards in their own time?

Conservative Moscow Communists might shy away from the prospect of communism trying to survive as government and way of life in a country lacking a border with another Communist state. The prestige of the movement would be at stake.

Moscow strategy planners, too, would be wary of permitting an overt seizure of power which might bring a direct threat of world war. Communists are supposed to serve Moscow foreign policy, not their national interests.

But impatient foreign Communists may see matters quite differently. In Stalin's day they would have feared to speak, but divisions inside Moscow itself would embolden them today.

The 21st congress offered a hint, in Communist double-talk, that a division on this score is widening. On an issue like Iraq it could bring a serious clash between old-line dogmatic Bolsheviks and the impatient and even reckless Soviet communists anxious to speed up a world revolution.

Some congress speakers referred to the dogma that in "colonial and dependent countries" Communists should join and cooperate with elements of the "national bourgeoisie," meaning whatever dupes they could find in the middle class. They brought up the question whether, in the light of the swift modern pace of events, the time had not arrived when Communists could "overpower" the middle class where the opportunity palpably was at hand.

In a situation like Iraq's, domestic Communists may strain at the bit. If Moscow should check them short of seizing the government, there could be serious repercussions, not only among Communists in lands far removed from the Red bloc, but from the impatient wing of the party in Moscow itself.

Letter To The Editor

We are writing this letter in regards to the proposed income tax and the position being taken by some of our brothers in organized labor.

The East Liverpool Firemen's Union, being Local 24 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, is the 24th oldest union in the United States affiliated with the International.

It is with just pride that we state this for we believe that by belonging to such a group we have helped to promote the cause of all organized working people. Membership in this union has brought us not only many benefits but also certain ideals and responsibilities that we must live up to. One of these is in the oath taken when anyone joins the AF of L — CIO. It is that, as a member of this organization, you will never knowingly harm another brother in the labor movement.

THIS BRINGS us to the current position taken by some of the local labor organizations. These unique groups are 100 per cent labor unionists when it comes to receiving but only about 10 per cent when it comes to giving.

It is a strange paradox indeed that while they are engaged in negotiating for benefits on the one hand, they are taking an active part in denying them to someone else with the other. While this opposition is being conducted under the guise of protecting democratic principals by putting it to a vote, we doubt if they are as nearly concerned with the supposed lack of democratic processes as they are the lack of an opportunity to keep someone else from getting ahead.

How can they possibly justify their own strike for better wages and oppose the same for those who work for them and who cannot strike? They will probably be quick to state that they are not opposed to us getting an increase, they are just opposed to the city taxing them in order to get the money to grant an increase. We wonder if they expect their employers to grant them an increase without raising the price of their wares. And do we, who will have to pay it, get a chance to vote on the increase in prices passed on to us? The employers with whom they are negotiating have but to look at the example set by the unions for an answer to their requests, for therein lies a prime example of ignoring the Golden Rule.

THE TAX increase in the city is met with screams of "Taxation Without Representation", but a price increase in their case is supposed to be accepted as a normal result of labor progressing. It appears it just depends on whose foot the shoe is pinching.

There is also another benefit from the income tax that they should be supporting. This is the additional employment that will be created by adding firemen, policemen, and other city workers.

This very fact is something the top labor leaders in the country have joined together in, that is, a program to create labor force. By their own admission that they have two employes for every job, you would think this fact alone would stimulate their support. As for their opposition to an income tax, several state labor committees have advocated replacing some present tax plans with state income taxes. Surely, it must have some merit.

If these organized unions can cite arguments to support their own cause and, in turn, ignore them in ours by stopping the income tax, we wish them every success. While it will be a bitter pill to swallow, we cannot say that they are not deserving of many increased benefits. We still respect our oath.

Takes Two Images To Make A System

The resignation of Meade Alcorn from the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee has stimulated still more interest in the "Republican image." Chairman Alcorn was one of many Republicans who insisted the image had to be changed before the party could recover its losses in Congress.

There probably isn't enough dissent from that viewpoint to make an argument. Everybody can agree that something must be changed before the Republican party can be a favorite in a congressional election again. But no one can agree that a party changes its "image" the way a woman takes off one hat and puts on another.

Political parties in the two-party system are made to seem what they appear to be by public reaction from whatever the opposition is doing.

This is another way of saying what voters know to be true — that candidates do not win elections; they lose them.

WHEN THE Republican party won a congressional majority and the presidency in 1952, its path was cleared for the triumphal procession by the brooms of public opinion. There was a "mess" to be cleaned up in Washington. Harry Truman and government by crony had worn out public patience.

Suddenly, the Republican party's "image" was infinitely more attractive than it had been at any time since the Coolidge-Hoover era. But in fact nothing had been done to change the "image." With all due respect to Dwight Eisenhower's attractiveness as an individual and a war hero, he had little bearing on anything connected with the "image" of the party whose nomination he won.

"Mister Republican" at that time was the late Robert A. Taft, whose memorial on Capitol Hill was dedicated last week. And Taft, in the possibility mistaken opinion of the party stalwarts who were riding high in 1952, was not as good a bet to win the election as Eisenhower.

As it turned out, the "mess in Washington" had dirtied the Democratic "image" so completely that any Republican could have won it.

INSTEAD OF BEING concerned solely about the way they look, it behooves Republicans to be concerned about the Democrats, too.

They are beginning to look more and more like William Jennings Bryan, for one thing —like the popular image of Bryan, that is. He has come down to us in history as a man who was more interested in doing tricks with money than in protecting its value for the benefit of savers.

Thanks to its unreconstructed rebels who dominate congressional committee chairmanships, the Democratic party's resemblance to the southern-fried Sen. Claghorn of radio fame also is striking.

Then there is a still further resemblance to the original Siamese twins, who were really two versions of the same thing, except they could not be considered separately because without each other they would have perished.

There is the Democratic party of the North and West that could not live without the Democratic party of the South, with which the North and West have nothing in common except a name. There is Orval Faubus and there is Humbert Humphrey. There is John F. Kennedy and there is James Eastland.

There is Texas, which tells the House of Representatives and the Senate what to do, through Rep. Rayburn and Sen. Johnson, and there are Democrats from contested northern districts and two-party states who sometimes get tired of doing it.

There must be Democrats worried about the "image" of their party, too.

Budget Security For National Defense

One of those old familiar tunes high on the list of the Spendocrats' hit parade is being yodeled again.

This particular one is a "blues" number. Its lyric bewails efforts to keep the U.S. defense budget in line as a willingness to sacrifice national safety to an "economy fetish."

The vocalist that comes to mind is Sen. Henry Jackson, who echoed that charge in an address the other night.

The trouble with the tune is that, like most choruses written for mass appeal, it is so concerned with the catchy phrase that it yields reason to rhyme.

The implication of the Washington Democrat's speech, for instance, was that the nation's security is too vital to be restricted by budgets.

The fact is, however, that the nation's security is too vital to be subverted by wasteful extravagance.

Common sense dictates that an expenditure of 40 billion dollars be accompanied by some assurance that we are getting our money's worth. If the defense budget can reach that level in the process of careful scrutiny, the heights to which it could rise if unquestioned are simply unimaginable.

Beyond the quality of the policy program itself, there is the fact that an establishment so vast as the Pentagon offers endless opportunities for bureaucratic error and waste.

At about the same time Sen. Jackson was making his plea for unlimited defense money, one of his colleagues reported the fact that an audit had shown the Air Force permitted a $1,133,510 overcharge in a cost-plus contract with a manufacturer. The overcharge grew out of an error made by the contractor and undetected by the military.

Transcending all the policy and administrative considerations, however, is the stark reality that fiscal overextension could play into Russia's hands just as surely as a too-restricted defense system.

This has come from the mouths of various Communist leaders themselves from time to time.

It is this consideration that leads wise policy-makers to be concerned with what the senator glibly calls a "budgetary fetish."

A solid financial footing is just as vital to America's security as a solid military machine.

At today's prices, it takes a lot of budgeting to have either one.

Oldtimer On 'Thrift'

By Frank Tripp

This three-generation story comes from an anonymous old fellow who in one lifetime has watched extravagance and debt all but wipe thrift off the American scene. He signed himself "Oldtimer."

"When you wrote about the crooked old company store, I began to see daylight about this inflation business," his letter starts.

Fanny says that I harp too much about inflation; that readers don't understand my stuff. My mail shows that it is the experts and economists who are not understood. That statistics need to be translated into ten dollar bills and people. Oldtimer did it, if I never have.

Few expounders on economics ever experienced the privation of family living costs beyond their reach, with no place to turn for life's sheer necessities save staggering debt, often not even that escape.

Such hardship is something the Roosevelts, Harrimans and Rockefellers never knew—and vote-wheedling legislators try to repair with the afflicteds' own earnings.

BEING ON SUCH a spot does something to you that you never forget. I've been there; so I "harp" in a wee, small voice, that inflation and extravagance are synonymous.

That soaring taxes and spiraling wages feed the demon; that the little man's weapon is his vote against government waste and handouts; that he is the sucker who pays it all back in taxes and prices of everything he buys. That "federal aid" and "state aid" are the biggest political humbugs since Boss Tweed.

But let's listen to Oldtimer: "My father was a woodsman and in the 1880s we lived in a company house. He was supposed to get $1.75 a day, not bad pay those days. In money he never averaged 50 cents a day.

"To hold his job he had to buy everything at the company store, at whatever prices the shysters charged. Each month it all was added up, including $8 for rent and $2 for fuel, which was waste from the company sawmill. Near all of his wages went right back to the company.

"When Pop had $7 to $10 in cash coming, it had been a wonderful month; provided he didn't owe it to the company doctor."

That was the price-wage situation that started the rat race in which wages never catch up to prices; no more than they did at the company store. Both must stop the spiral—or else. And it's not a pretty "else."

OLDTIMER THEN carries his observation into the third generation: "I showed your article to my boy, who is doing right well, I thought. He didn't think much of it. He allowed that his grandfather had it over him like a tent, times considered.

"He figured he's paying worse robber prices than gramp did; that the company store racket at least gave gramp his house, fuel, food, clothes, all of his necessities; and still left him some 15 per cent of his wages in spendable cash. He said he'd settle for that any day; and I thought, 'me too.'

"Then the kid spilled the beans and proved your point. He said that gramp's margin might get him out of debt. He's in over his head. Wtih $22.50 pay a day, more than 13 times gramp's $1.75, creditors own his shirt.

Oldtimer concluded: "Now I know what's inflation. It's both government and people wanting the moon, and getting it, come hell or high water. The kid's grandfather never earned over $4.50 a day in his life. When he died he owned a nice home, the house next door, had money in the bank, and all that he owed was that month's gas bill. Today they get big dough; but the codfish millionaires don't hang onto any of it. Their 'company store' is the prices that their own greed creates."

Let's see some economist write a better thesis on inflation. Thank you, Oldtimer.

The Clincher

Some say the psychological turning point when winter is left behind is the opening of another baseball season.

Others, remembering that baseball starts when the moguls say it should start, prefer to stick with the calendar. They leave winter behind when April is half gone without having produced a blizzard.

Then there are some, no doubt, who think the turning point has been passed when it's time for the track and field men to practice their obscure arts. For others it may be the beginning of road repairs.

Or it could be spring housecleaning.

Or the momentous day when the coach pits last year's varsity against next fall's varsity in the big game that highlights spring football practice.

But for most of the psychological turning point is the blooming of daffodils and the flowering of forsythia. Only then is it credible that winter finally has been left behind.

'Statehood For New York City'

War Cry Gains Favor Among Gotham Residents

"Statehood for New York City," a war cry raised recently by one of the city's newspapers, now seems rooted in popular fancy.

Since statehood dust was tossed into the public's eye a few weeks ago, it has become a major topic of irritated conversation, on buses, commuter trains, and subways.

In taxicabs, of course, it has become a topic for "look Mac" oratory, not conversation. A car passenger, as nearly as can be determined, hasn't had a chance to express his views on statehood since the idea first came to light.

Last week, in half-serious frames of mind, 23 New York City councillors endorsed a somewhat redundant study of statehood's "possibility and legality."

THE LONE DISSENTER, Republican Councillor Stanley M. Isaacs, had been shouting "Down With Tammany" too long to go along with his Democratic confreres now, even on such an obviously light-hearted mission as this one.

There seems to be plenty of evidence however, that in this instance, council is running parallel to the fellow who opines "so-and-so ought to be shot." No one translates him literally. But there has to be irritation.

Council may not want to murder the bonds which tie city and upstate New York but they're hopping mad about real or imagined grievances suffered at the hands of Albany. At that, bones of contention are probably more real than otherwise, for an economist would have a hard time proving that New York City couldn't run its own state ranch and save money doing it.

The city pays about 55 per cent of the state's taxes, in return for 37 per cent of the total revenue. But the possibility about city statehood is nothing new.

The first time secession became a major topic of conversation was during the reign of Tammany Mayor Fernando Wood, a hard-headed Manhattan businessman who was supposed to have an uncanny aptitude for gauging public opinion.

(His pre-Tweed administration, incidentally, had a reputation for being far from spotless. Witness a Wood eulogy entitled "A Model Mayor," which rolled off the presses in 1855. Hard on its heels came a somewhat more critical epic called "A Biography of Fernando Wood, A History of the Forgeries, Perjuries and Other Crimes of Our 'Model' Mayor.")

In a rather pompous annual message to the peasants, on Jan. 7, 1861, Mayor Wood went so far as to predict that the Union was not long for this earth. In the same breath, he proposed that New York City should "disrupt the bonds" which subjected it to "upstate tyranny."

"THEN, AS NOW, upstate New York was a Republican stronghold and the most biting Democratic simile for Albany was "Tyranny.")

Mayor Wood's proposal actually went a step farther than statehood. In view of the imminent shattering of the Union, he felt New York should become a free city, imposing nominal tariffs on imports. Either the Civil War, or plain indifference, blocked its path. At any rate, it never got to the legislative level.

This time, very few responsible people are taking the statehood proposal seriously. Proof is that the majority of those who have this particular bee in their bonnets can think of little else but what the new state would be called.

States of "Manhattan," "South New York," "Gotham" and "New Amsterdam" have all been given the once over. Less pressing problems, such as the legislation which separates the city from statehood, have been all but ignored.

City Council's investigation committee, observers feel, spells nothing but "nuisance value" in the city's heated economic struggle with Gov. Rockefeller and Albany.

The city is casting a jaundiced eye on the $1,100,000,000 extracted from New Yorkers by the state last year. Little of this, the Democratic Council contends, will find its way home.

That kind of money is no laughing matter. It may be that statehood isn't either.

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: As you should know by this time, I am the original underdog man. There has to be an underdog for every top-dog.

Noah had the right idea — two of everything. Preferably more, if you have room. Six of one and a half dozen of the other. It takes competition just as much as it takes cooperation to make this world move.

Or to be blunt, I do not expect to shed a single tear or lose a moment's sleep because my fellow citizens have lost the illusion they are without any rival on earth.

The clipping you sent me about the great disillusionment made me feel elated, not depressed. If we are half as good as we used to think we were, we'll still be good enough to win our share of the close ones.

And if we are as good as we need to be, we'll learn to stand our losses with dignity and self-respect. I always admire the basketball teams that lose by a single point, usually the result of an official's decision about a foul. I have nothing but admiration for football players who leave the field with their heads high after losing by a fluke.

For every winner there has to be a loser, and I see no discredit in losing if you did your best. It takes more guts to lose a few than to win 'em all.

The question is whether Americans have the guts to see merit in the competition they have been giving lip service to all their lives. It is barely possible we have lost the knack of standing up after being knocked down.

We may have become so entranced by the American success story that we won't be able to handle the disappointments of an era in which we will have to settle for what we can get, instead of what we wanted to get. I don't know.

But if we can't, we won't belong in the big leagues. We will be bushers. This is going to be the ultimate test of our fiber, if you will forgive me for sounding like a moralist.

All my life I've winced at the prevalence of bluster in my country. It puts my teeth on edge when our sword-rattlers pop off, as some of them have been doing lately. It gave me the willies when we talked about making the world safe for democracy, though we hadn't made the United States safe for democracy — and when we lectured other people for doing things we never had learned to do right in our own country.

You know something? Until you have been the underdog, you don't know how to fight. That is where you learn the tricks. If you're worth saving, your chances of being saved are better when you have had the experience of coming from behind.

We used to know all about underdogs in this country. We had to come from behind to survive. I think it will be good for us to find out again what it feels like to sweat and worry and leave blood-stained footprints in the snow of Valley Forge.

Competition is what the doctor ordered to keep us in shape. Do you suppose it is possible that some of our "beatniks" who loll around mush - mouthing nonsense about the futility of being alive might see things differently if they were obliged to prove they had enough gumption to keep living? It's just a passing thought.

I really believe competition is indispensable and that survival of the fittest is the secret of human progress. If America is ready to admit that the struggle is getting tougher and that Yankee virtue is not its own reward, as the clipping said, I am going to double my bets.

Regards to the family and fellow strugglers everywhere.

Middle East Could Backfire On Communists

Some State Department analysts are intrigued by a chance that what seems a brilliant Communist success in the Middle East may prove to be a troublesome and even dangerous headache for Moscow.

The speculation seems justified that events in Iraq can cause trouble for the Kremlin. Soviet Communists for years cheerfully based their confidence on what they called capitalist contradictions. They have many of their own—perhaps more than the West has suspected. One seems to be emerging now.

Deep-rooted Russian imperialist tradition and the awkwardly inflexible dogma of Marxism-Leninism may be colliding with 1959 impatience.

A clue came early this year from the 21st party congress in Moscow, attended by Communist leaders from all over the world. Developing at that moment was the Iraq situation, with its look of golden opportunity.

To the Great Russians here was a chance to realize what the czars had vainly dreamed of for centuries: a foothold on the Persian Gulf. To the Communists, here was a chance to establish controlling influence for the first time in an important Arab oil producing area. But two things were in they way—Russian tradition and Communist dogma.

Moving out restlessly for centuries from the duchy of Muscovy, the Russians did not overleap land barriers. In modern times, communism was imposed upon nations only where there was bordering Communist territory. Turkey and Iran lie between the U.S.S.R. and Iraq.

Communists label Iraq feudal, colonial and dependent. Dogma would require that Iraq now develop her "national bourgeois" (middle class) revolution to the point where a significant industrial proletariat would be the excuse and the instrument for seizing power.

But what about local Communists? Should they forego opportunities because of traditions and outdated dogma? Could they be faithful indefinitely without prospect of victory in their own lands and rewards in their own time?

Conservative Moscow Communists might shy away from the prospect of communism trying to survive as government and way of life in a country lacking a border with another Communist state. The prestige of the movement would be at stake.

Moscow strategy planners, too, would be wary of permitting an overt seizure of power which might bring a direct threat of world war. Communists are supposed to serve Moscow foreign policy, not their national interests.

But impatient foreign Communists may see matters quite differently. In Stalin's day they would have feared to speak, but divisions inside Moscow itself would embolden them today.

The 21st congress offered a hint, in Communist double-talk, that a division on this score is widening. On an issue like Iraq it could bring a serious clash between old-line dogmatic Bolsheviks and the impatient and even reckless Soviet communists anxious to speed up a world revolution.

Some congress speakers referred to the dogma that in "colonial and dependent countries" Communists should join and cooperate with elements of the "national bourgeoisie," meaning whatever dupes they could find in the middle class. They brought up the question whether, in the light of the swift modern pace of events, the time had not arrived when Communists could "overpower" the middle class where the opportunity palpably was at hand.

In a situation like Iraq's, domestic Communists may strain at the bit. If Moscow should check them short of seizing the government, there could be serious repercussions, not only among Communists in lands far removed from the Red bloc, but from the impatient wing of the party in Moscow itself.

Letter To The Editor

We are writing this letter in regards to the proposed income tax and the position being taken by some of our brothers in organized labor.

The East Liverpool Firemen's Union, being Local 24 of the International Association of Fire Fighters, is the 24th oldest union in the United States affiliated with the International.

It is with just pride that we state this for we believe that by belonging to such a group we have helped to promote the cause of all organized working people. Membership in this union has brought us not only many benefits but also certain ideals and responsibilities that we must live up to. One of these is in the oath taken when anyone joins the AF of L — CIO. It is that, as a member of this organization, you will never knowingly harm another brother in the labor movement.

THIS BRINGS us to the current position taken by some of the local labor organizations. These unique groups are 100 per cent labor unionists when it comes to receiving but only about 10 per cent when it comes to giving.

It is a strange paradox indeed that while they are engaged in negotiating for benefits on the one hand, they are taking an active part in denying them to someone else with the other. While this opposition is being conducted under the guise of protecting democratic principals by putting it to a vote, we doubt if they are as nearly concerned with the supposed lack of democratic processes as they are the lack of an opportunity to keep someone else from getting ahead.

How can they possibly justify their own strike for better wages and oppose the same for those who work for them and who cannot strike? They will probably be quick to state that they are not opposed to us getting an increase, they are just opposed to the city taxing them in order to get the money to grant an increase. We wonder if they expect their employers to grant them an increase without raising the price of their wares. And do we, who will have to pay it, get a chance to vote on the increase in prices passed on to us? The employers with whom they are negotiating have but to look at the example set by the unions for an answer to their requests, for therein lies a prime example of ignoring the Golden Rule.

THE TAX increase in the city is met with screams of "Taxation Without Representation", but a price increase in their case is supposed to be accepted as a normal result of labor progressing. It appears it just depends on whose foot the shoe is pinching.

There is also another benefit from the income tax that they should be supporting. This is the additional employment that will be created by adding firemen, policemen, and other city workers.

This very fact is something the top labor leaders in the country have joined together in, that is, a program to create labor force. By their own admission that they have two employes for every job, you would think this fact alone would stimulate their support. As for their opposition to an income tax, several state labor committees have advocated replacing some present tax plans with state income taxes. Surely, it must have some merit.

If these organized unions can cite arguments to support their own cause and, in turn, ignore them in ours by stopping the income tax, we wish them every success. While it will be a bitter pill to swallow, we cannot say that they are not deserving of many increased benefits. We still respect our oath.

Quiz Makes It Clearer

All's Confusion Over DST

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're one of those people who gets confused every year about Daylight Saving Time, don't be surprised—it is confusing.

Here's a little quiz that may help to straighten you out.

Q: What is Daylight Saving Time?

A: The custom of turning clocks ahead one hour in the spring and turning them back one hour in the fall, to make the most of long summer days.

Q: When does it start?

A: In most places observing it, at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 26.

Q: How long does it last?

A: Most places start it the last Sunday in April and end it six months later, on the last Sunday in October, which this year is Oct. 25.

Q: How many states change to Daylight Saving Time?

A: All or part of 24 states and the District of Columbia, mainly in the East and Middle West.

Q: What is the shortest DST period in the country?

A: Butte, Mont., which normally declares it from June 1 to Sept. 6. Butte is the only city in Montana which adopts daylight time.

Q: What is the longest period?

A: Kentucky, from April 26, to Oct. 31. It is meaningless in such cities as Lexington and Frankfort, however, since they maintain daylight time all year.

Q: Doesn't the mixed time situation create confusion?

A: It certainly does. Iowa, for instance, has no daylight time, but the border city of Davenport is expected to adopt it if Illinois cities across the Mississippi River do.

Illinois is probably the champion of confusion. About 80 per cent of its people go on DST until Oct. 25, but rural areas are divided, some stopping at Sept. 27, and others staying on Standard Time. Some counties stay on Standard Time while the people in them operate on DST.

Other states where uniformity is lacking include Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Mexico, Missouri, Ohio, West Virginia, Minnesota, Alabama, and Virginia.

Q: How about the other states?

A: The following states have Daylight Saving Time from April 26 to Oct. 25: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Daylight Time ends Sept. 27 in California, Nevada, Indiana and Wisconsin. In Massachusetts it runs until Oct. 18.

5-Month-Old Walkout Ends

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Order returned to the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills today, its violent five-months-old strike officially ended.

The early first shift of workers reported as usual, but the lines of angry strikers and squads of highway patrolman were absent.

This mill town, scene of rock throwing, fighting and almost nightly dynamite blasts, began to slip back into its old pattern.

The mills, which had been operating on a limited basis since Feb. 16, scheduled a second shift later today. A third shift will be added next Monday.

Boyd Payton of Charlotte, Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America, said only about 25 of 900 union members voted against ratification of a new one-year contract Sunday.

The strike started last Nov. 17 after the company insisted that an arbitration clause be removed from a new contract. After the mills reopened, two other issues developed — seniority rights of striking and non-striking workers and a union dues checkoff clause.

Payton said arbitration will apply for all disputes concerning disciplinary action. All other matters will be subject to arbitration by mutual consent. The union will have the right to strike in the event the company refuses to arbitrate.

Workers hired since the mills reopened Feb. 16 will retain their jobs. Payton said there will be no checkoff of union dues but the company agreed to erect dues collection booths at each mill.

Settlement of the strike came Friday night after Gov. Luther Hodges intervened.

Negotiations for a wage increase, not involved in this contract, will be started within 56 days, Payton said. An estimated $1,357,000 was lost in wages during the 23-week strike.

The program year officially ended March 31. Applications for payment earned in the 1958 program must be filed with sales documents at the ASC office in Lisbon not later than April 30.

Payment will be made later this summer after the national average price of wool has been determined, Fishel said.

Quiz Makes It Clearer

All's Confusion Over DST

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're one of those people who gets confused every year about Daylight Saving Time, don't be surprised—it is confusing.

Here's a little quiz that may help to straighten you out.

Q: What is Daylight Saving Time?

A: The custom of turning clocks ahead one hour in the spring and turning them back one hour in the fall, to make the most of long summer days.

Q: When does it start?

A: In most places observing it, at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 26.

Q: How long does it last?

A: Most places start it the last Sunday in April and end it six months later, on the last Sunday in October, which this year is Oct. 25.

Q: How many states change to Daylight Saving Time?

A: All or part of 24 states and the District of Columbia, mainly in the East and Middle West.

Q: What is the shortest DST period in the country?

A: Butte, Mont., which normally declares it from June 1 to Sept. 6. Butte is the only city in Montana which adopts daylight time.

Q: What is the longest period?

A: Kentucky, from April 26, to Oct. 31. It is meaningless in such cities as Lexington and Frankfort, however, since they maintain daylight time all year.

Q: Doesn't the mixed time situation create confusion?

A: It certainly does. Iowa, for instance, has no daylight time, but the border city of Davenport is expected to adopt it if Illinois cities across the Mississippi River do.

Illinois is probably the champion of confusion. About 80 per cent of its people go on DST until Oct. 25, but rural areas are divided, some stopping at Sept. 27, and others staying on Standard Time. Some counties stay on Standard Time while the people in them operate on DST.

Other states where uniformity is lacking include Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Mexico, Missouri, Ohio, West Virginia, Minnesota, Alabama, and Virginia.

Q: How about the other states?

A: The following states have Daylight Saving Time from April 26 to Oct. 25: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Daylight Time ends Sept. 27 in California, Nevada, Indiana and Wisconsin. In Massachusetts it runs until Oct. 18.

Installation Ceremony Of VFW Post Draws 35

Thirty-five attended the installation of officers held Saturday night at Meade's Restaurant by Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647.

Mayor William J. Shoub, past commander, was installing officer. Joe Torrence of East Liverpool, district senior vice commander, was guest speaker. Paul Vogel served as master of ceremonies. A dance followed at the post home. Seated were:

Emmett Daniels, commander; William Woolley, senior vice commander; Frank Dysert, junior vice commander; Frank Miller, quartermaster; Earl Roseberry, chaplain; Albert O'Rourke, trustee; John Prokop, judge advocate; Raymond Provost, surgeon; C. M. Collins, officer of the day, and Nicholas Puch, adjutant.

5-Month-Old Walkout Ends

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Order returned to the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills today, its violent five-months-old strike officially ended.

The early first shift of workers reported as usual, but the lines of angry strikers and squads of highway patrolman were absent.

This mill town, scene of rock throwing, fighting and almost nightly dynamite blasts, began to slip back into its old pattern.

The mills, which had been operating on a limited basis since Feb. 16, scheduled a second shift later today. A third shift will be added next Monday.

Boyd Payton of Charlotte, Carolinas director for the Textile Workers Union of America, said only about 25 of 900 union members voted against ratification of a new one-year contract Sunday.

The strike started last Nov. 17 after the company insisted that an arbitration clause be removed from a new contract. After the mills reopened, two other issues developed — seniority rights of striking and non-striking workers and a union dues checkoff clause.

Payton said arbitration will apply for all disputes concerning disciplinary action. All other matters will be subject to arbitration by mutual consent. The union will have the right to strike in the event the company refuses to arbitrate.

Workers hired since the mills reopened Feb. 16 will retain their jobs. Payton said there will be no checkoff of union dues but the company agreed to erect dues collection booths at each mill.

Settlement of the strike came Friday night after Gov. Luther Hodges intervened.

Negotiations for a wage increase, not involved in this contract, will be started within 56 days, Payton said. An estimated $1,357,000 was lost in wages during the 23-week strike.

Fast Approval Due On Herter

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trickle of complaints to its Foreign Relations Committee seemed unlikely today to delay Senate confirmation of Christian Herter as secretary of state.

Committee aides said they had received some verbal protests, from persons they didn't name, that Herter's physical condition would hamper his activities in the top diplomatic job. No formal objection has been filed, however.

Herter has suffered from arthritis of the hips which makes it painful for him to walk any distance or stand for long. However, he underwent a physical examination at President Eisenhower's request and White House press secretary James C. Hagerty reported "everything's fine."

Reaction to Eisenhower's Saturday announcement of Herter's selection showed overwhelming approval of the appointment.

Even Sen. William Langer (R-ND), who has piled up an impressive record of voting against Eisenhower's diplomatic appointments, said he favors speedy confirmation of Herter.

"The President has made an excellent appointment," Langer said. "Mr. Herter has a keen knowledge of international affairs. His appointment should be confirmed immediately."

Formal nomination of Herter to replace cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles goes to the Senate today.

Sen. George D. Aiken ,R-Vt), a committee member, said he thinks it is imperative for Herter to be confirmed speedily so that he can attend the Paris meeting of Western foreign ministers this month with the unclouded title of secretary.

Freeze Explained By District Agent Of Social Security

The term "freeze" as it applies to the Social Security program was explained today by the Youngstown district office of the Social Security Administration.

There are only two situations under the present program when a "freeze" is applicable — at or after age 65, or a disability "freeze" for persons totally disabled under age 50.

No person can freeze his earnings before age 65 unless he is totally disabled. The purpose of this freeze is to protect his highest benefit at age 65 if the person wishes to continue working after age 65 for less earnings than he earned before 65. Under these circumstances, the benefit checks will be suspended until the person retires or limits his earnings to $1,200 or less a year so that benefit payments can be made under the law.

The disability "freeze" is to protect a person's Social Security earnings if he is under 50 and totally disabled. Under these circumstances, no benefit is payable until age 50, but a totally disabled person should file for a disability "freeze" if under age 50. They should file because the necessary work requirement of the Social Security disability law that a person must work for at least 5 years out of the 10-year period immediately before their date of total disability can be met now. The deadline is June 30, 1961, after which the person will only be able to establish a date of total disability one year prior to actual filing and if that person was totally disabled more than one year before actual filing he may not qualify for disability benefits when reaching 50.

2 Departments Called To Calcutta Brush Fire

High winds were blamed for fanning a brush fire Saturday afternoon which burned over 1½ acres before it was quelled by Calcutta and Liverpool Township east volunteer firemen.

Firemen said the fire started at the home of Richard Smith on Crestview Dr. in St. Clair Township about 12:20 p. m. The family had a burning permit and a part-time employe started to burn leaves.

The wind scattered the leaves, spreading the fire. There was no damage, but a garage was threatened briefly when a brush pile was ignited.

The employe called city firemen, who relayed the call to the east department. Meanwhile, neighbors called Calcutta firemen. A truck and 12 men from Calcutta and a truck and 18 men from east responded.

Mother Kills 2 Girls, Then Wounds Herself

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 23-year-old woman who police say shot and killed her two young daughters is in critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital here today after an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

Officers said Mrs. Ester Detisch of Covington, a Kentucky community across the Ohio River from here, killed the girls, Cynthia, 6, and Kathy, 5, as they slept late Sunday. A short time later she shot herself in the chest, police said.

Mrs. Detisch apparently was despondent over losing her job as clerk in the Covington city assessor's office, authorities said.

Mrs. Detisch, who worked nights as a hat check girl at a nearby night club, is separated from her husband.

Budget Balancing Not Major Issue, Morton Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Republican national chairman predicts budget balancing will not be a major issue in the 1960 presidential election.

But the chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky), added that inflation, "if we let it get out of hand," would be an issue.

Morton said on a television program Sunday he does not expect the budget for fiscal 1960 to be balanced. But he said unemployment, the farm program and foreign policy will emerge as the main issues in 1960.

Morton, predicting the Republicans would win the presidency, said Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would battle for the GOP nomination. The chairman also said Adlai Stevenson would win the Democratic nomination for a third time if the Democrats become deadlocked at their convention.

2 Departments Called To Calcutta Brush Fire

High winds were blamed for fanning a brush fire Saturday afternoon which burned over 1½ acres before it was quelled by Calcutta and Liverpool Township east volunteer firemen.

Firemen said the fire started at the home of Richard Smith on Crestview Dr. in St. Clair Township about 12:20 p. m. The family had a burning permit and a part-time employe started to burn leaves.

The wind scattered the leaves, spreading the fire. There was no damage, but a garage was threatened briefly when a brush pile was ignited.

The employe called city firemen, who relayed the call to the east department. Meanwhile, neighbors called Calcutta firemen. A truck and 12 men from Calcutta and a truck and 18 men from east responded.

Mother Kills 2 Girls, Then Wounds Herself

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 23-year-old woman who police say shot and killed her two young daughters is in critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital here today after an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

Officers said Mrs. Ester Detisch of Covington, a Kentucky community across the Ohio River from here, killed the girls, Cynthia, 6, and Kathy, 5, as they slept late Sunday. A short time later she shot herself in the chest, police said.

Mrs. Detisch apparently was despondent over losing her job as clerk in the Covington city assessor's office, authorities said.

Mrs. Detisch, who worked nights as a hat check girl at a nearby night club, is separated from her husband.

Budget Balancing Not Major Issue, Morton Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Republican national chairman predicts budget balancing will not be a major issue in the 1960 presidential election.

But the chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky), added that inflation, "if we let it get out of hand," would be an issue.

Morton said on a television program Sunday he does not expect the budget for fiscal 1960 to be balanced. But he said unemployment, the farm program and foreign policy will emerge as the main issues in 1960.

Morton, predicting the Republicans would win the presidency, said Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York would battle for the GOP nomination. The chairman also said Adlai Stevenson would win the Democratic nomination for a third time if the Democrats become deadlocked at their convention.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career girl, 31, could pass for younger — and do, when a kittenish mood overtakes me.

I went to a good school, took a master's degree and chose public relations work. My father left me a little money, which I invested wisely.

My problem is simple, yet complex. I have scads of gentlemen friends but they all earn less money than I do. I have my own apartment (in fact I own part of the building). Travel fascinates me and there are few places I haven't been. I drive a new car every two years.

Last year (with my bonus check) I decided to splurge and buy a mink coat. People think I'm rolling in dough (not true) but I am darned comfortable.

Frankly, I'm sick to death of the commercial rat race. I'd give up everything tomorrow for a guy and a fireside. But no one has asked me. How do you let a man know you're not as self-sufficient as you look — and that underneath you're just the girl next door?—ALINE.

Dear Aline: You sound like the girl next door — to the Bank of America, that is.

Wake up and smell the coffee! You're frightening the men away in droves. When a working girl buys herself a mink coat she removes the last vestige of incentive for a working guy. You may be razor-sharp in public relations, Honey, but your private relations have been poorly handled.

Remove that indestructible facade. If you want to lean on a man, you're going to have to look more like the Tower of Pisa and less like the Rock of Gibraltar.

Super Sensitive

Dear Ann: My husband's grandmother is ruining my marriage. I have a 2-year-old son and an infant less than 6 weeks old. Grandma lives a block away and she's taken over my boy, completely. When he told me yesterday that he loves "Gram best in all the world" I was so hurt I cried.

I'm a young mother, trying hard to build a good family relationship. When I talk to my husband about this he gets disgusted with me, says I'm behaving like a spoiled kid and tells me I'd better get over it. He doesn't know how it hurts a mother's heart to hear that her child loves someone else better.

Grandma is 76 but very energetic. She can spend hours telling my son stories and playing games with him. I can't give him my undivided attention as I did before the new baby came. What am I to do? I'm sick inside.—DESPONDENT.

Dear Despondent: Shame on you for being jealous of Grandma. Your life is ahead of you —Hers is almost over.

Let her enjoy the child. Be happy there is someone to occupy the boy's interest while you get the new baby off to a good start. Do you know what a blessing it is not to have a 2-year-old hanging on to your skirts trying to get attention away from the baby?

Grandma has solved a thorny problem. Revamp your thinking and try to see the advantage of the situation. You'll feel much better — and so will everyone else.

No Could Be Costly

Dear Ann: I work for a company that has announced all employes must put in 4 hours on Saturday. My wife is raising the roof. She says I should refuse. We get extra pay for the hours but she says she'd rather have less money and more time with me.

No one else has squawked and I hate to be the first. We've been married five months and owe lots of bills. She says if I let myself be pushed around they'll be asking me to work Sundays next. Refusing could cost me my job. What shall I do?--WILL.

Dear Will: Who's "pushing you around" — except maybe that flea-brained wife? You're being offered more pay for more work. Put it back in her lap. Tell her if you say no to Saturday work it will probably mean you'll be spending the other six days of the week at home with her, too.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career girl, 31, could pass for younger — and do, when a kittenish mood overtakes me.

I went to a good school, took a master's degree and chose public relations work. My father left me a little money, which I invested wisely.

My problem is simple, yet complex. I have scads of gentlemen friends but they all earn less money than I do. I have my own apartment (in fact I own part of the building). Travel fascinates me and there are few places I haven't been. I drive a new car every two years.

Last year (with my bonus check) I decided to splurge and buy a mink coat. People think I'm rolling in dough (not true) but I am darned comfortable.

Frankly, I'm sick to death of the commercial rat race. I'd give up everything tomorrow for a guy and a fireside. But no one has asked me. How do you let a man know you're not as self-sufficient as you look — and that underneath you're just the girl next door?—ALINE.

Dear Aline: You sound like the girl next door — to the Bank of America, that is.

Wake up and smell the coffee! You're frightening the men away in droves. When a working girl buys herself a mink coat she removes the last vestige of incentive for a working guy. You may be razor-sharp in public relations, Honey, but your private relations have been poorly handled.

Remove that indestructible facade. If you want to lean on a man, you're going to have to look more like the Tower of Pisa and less like the Rock of Gibraltar.

Super Sensitive

Dear Ann: My husband's grandmother is ruining my marriage. I have a 2-year-old son and an infant less than 6 weeks old. Grandma lives a block away and she's taken over my boy, completely. When he told me yesterday that he loves "Gram best in all the world" I was so hurt I cried.

I'm a young mother, trying hard to build a good family relationship. When I talk to my husband about this he gets disgusted with me, says I'm behaving like a spoiled kid and tells me I'd better get over it. He doesn't know how it hurts a mother's heart to hear that her child loves someone else better.

Grandma is 76 but very energetic. She can spend hours telling my son stories and playing games with him. I can't give him my undivided attention as I did before the new baby came. What am I to do? I'm sick inside.—DESPONDENT.

Dear Despondent: Shame on you for being jealous of Grandma. Your life is ahead of you —Hers is almost over.

Let her enjoy the child. Be happy there is someone to occupy the boy's interest while you get the new baby off to a good start. Do you know what a blessing it is not to have a 2-year-old hanging on to your skirts trying to get attention away from the baby?

Grandma has solved a thorny problem. Revamp your thinking and try to see the advantage of the situation. You'll feel much better — and so will everyone else.

No Could Be Costly

Dear Ann: I work for a company that has announced all employes must put in 4 hours on Saturday. My wife is raising the roof. She says I should refuse. We get extra pay for the hours but she says she'd rather have less money and more time with me.

No one else has squawked and I hate to be the first. We've been married five months and owe lots of bills. She says if I let myself be pushed around they'll be asking me to work Sundays next. Refusing could cost me my job. What shall I do?--WILL.

Dear Will: Who's "pushing you around" — except maybe that flea-brained wife? You're being offered more pay for more work. Put it back in her lap. Tell her if you say no to Saturday work it will probably mean you'll be spending the other six days of the week at home with her, too.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Prolonged Diet Brings Diminished Returns

Conscientious dieters, who have succeeded in reducing considerably but still are many pounds from ideal, complain that although they eat very little, they no longer lose. Dieters ask what to do in such a dilemma.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian's advice would be this: Eat—don't stay on semi-starvation rations. Eat three adequate, low calorie meals a day and include protein at each of the three meals. And, most important, step up exercise to "open the draft" and stimulate body fires, thus encouraging the body to burn more calories.

It could be that you have reached the law of diminishing returns on calorie cutting. In prolonged dieting, nature tends to economize on calories.

—:—

THE BODY SEEMS able to adjust itself to a slightly lower level of metabolism in order to conserve fuel. This adjustment of the body to run with greater economy of energy does not occur with short-term diets.

While this is a protective measure on nature's part to help out when less food is obtainable, from the reducer's standpoint, it's a handicap.

When keeping weight down is a struggle, it is important to eat three meals a day so as to take advantage of the specific dynamic action of food. The effect of food in raising the metabolism above the basal level is called its specific dynamic action.

The metabolism begins to rise about an hour after a meal is eaten, continues to rise for about three hours, then decreases. Protein causes the greatest rise in metabolism.

From this explanation, it is easy to figure that on three meals a day the metabolism is kept elevated for many hours. This explains how it is possible to lose more weight by dividing the day's calories into three meals than it is if the bulk of calories are eaten at one big meal, say at dinner.

Muscular activity steps up calorie burning more than any other single factor. A daily walk plus regular non-strenuous calisthenics will help you to lose weight while eating enough food to feel satisfied and happy.

A safe diet is deficient in only one respect—calories. While fuel can be used from any source, the repair and regulating materials come chiefly from protective foods.

HERE ARE the foods required daily: Milk, skim milk or buttermilk, 1 pint; lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, cooked weight; 1 egg or a half cup of cottage cheese; vegetables and fruits, 4 servings each, including one citrus fruit and one dark green vegetable; bread or alternates, 2 servings.

In prolonged dieting, it is of the utmost importance that all the protective foods be furnished in adequate amounts.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet" and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

County Man To Serve Double Fines In Jail

SALINEVILLE — Harold Dennis of near Wellsville, arrested Saturday night on E. Main St. for being drunk and disorderly, was committed to the County Jail Sunday after he was found guilty by Mayor Karl Lindner and fined $50 and costs.

Senate Action Upon Stewart Faces Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee meets today, but it may postpone action on Potter Stewart's nomination to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Stewart, nominated by President Eisenhower Jan. 17, has been serving on the court since October when he received a recess appointment while Congress was not in session.

There was some question whether a quorum would be on hand at today's committee meeting. A conference of all Republican senators is being held about the same time to discuss labor legislation.

In addition, two committee members, Sens. William Langer (R-ND) and John L. McClellan (D-Ark), raised the possibility they may not be ready to act on Stewart's nomination.

Langer said he wants a chance to read the record of the committee's hearings before he acts.

McClellan told a reporter he doesn't know whether he will ask that Stewart be recalled for further questioning.

At the committee's first hearing on the nomination, McClellan questioned Stewart about the Supreme Court's unanimous 1954 decision that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

McClellan indicated afterward that he wanted to pursue this questioning further, but he was not present for the committee's second hearing.

Stewart, a 44-year-old Ohio Republican, was a member of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals when Eisenhower named him to the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Harold M. Burton, also from Ohio, who retired.

Bringing Up A Family

How To Curb Child Who Throws Tantrums

A mother of two boys, 9 and 11, writes that the younger one does well at school and evinces good manners and behavior there. "But at home," her letter says, "he can be a defiant and vengeful child, given to tantrums and scenes. "He thinks things must be done immediately when he requests them," she says. "When he's asked to do something, however, he won't do it until he is good and ready." To handle this I suggested that, when he should do something, she tell him to do it instead of asking him. If he does not begin and finish it promptly, a penalty should be set. At such times, it is unwise for this mother to argue or repeat a command. She should act decisively and firmly.

By Garry Meyers

WHEN, HOWEVER she asks him to do something, it's a request. He should then be allowed to choose whether to do it or not. She shouldn't get mad if he decides not to. It is well for her to make a request when she is fairly sure he will comply. If he does comply, she should approve warmly.

"He cries when he doesn't get his way," her letter stated.

I suggested that she never reward him by letting him have what he wants if he cries for it.

"He also has a violent temper," she wrote, "even to the point of going into a rage. At times the only thing to do is to whip him."

I suggested that she never let him get his way through a rage. When he's in a tantrum, she should act calmly, say nothing, do nothing, keep cool.

—:—

IT WOULD not be wise to use her tongue to punish him. Words can be too piercing and poisonous and leave a bad taste.

Generally, she should play up this lad's good traits, build on his strengths, celebrate his successes. Dad probably can do most to bring out the best in this boy.

My bulletins, "Quarreling and Fighting" and "Tantrums: Prevention and Correction," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

British Press At Odds Over Herter Choice

LONDON (AP)—Britain's press over the weekend greeted Christian A. Herter's appointment as secretary of state with varying shades of emotion ranging from sharp criticism to hopeful enthusiasm.

The British Labor party organ cited Herter's arthritic condition and said his new job is "too much for any pain-racked invalid." In a blunt editorial, the Daily Herald declared that sick old men cannot rule the world and said President Eisenhower "is a broken man, incapable of the energy required to grasp important matters for any length of time."

Most British papers expressed profound hope that Herter would succeed in his new post.

Herter's nomination got an enthusiastic reception from newspapers in Paris, where he was born of American parents. There was approving comment too in Formosa and Korea, two of America's strongest Asian allies.

London's Sunday Times hailed Herter's appointment, calling him "a man whose record inspires our most hopeful trust."

The London Observer noted, however, that his predecessor, John Foster Dulles, was a man who created policy and that it seemed Herter did not command the same respect and confidence from Eisenhower.

William the Conqueror was leader of the Normans when he conquered England in 1066.

Prolonged Diet Brings Diminished Returns

Conscientious dieters, who have succeeded in reducing considerably but still are many pounds from ideal, complain that although they eat very little, they no longer lose. Dieters ask what to do in such a dilemma.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian's advice would be this: Eat—don't stay on semi-starvation rations. Eat three adequate, low calorie meals a day and include protein at each of the three meals. And, most important, step up exercise to "open the draft" and stimulate body fires, thus encouraging the body to burn more calories.

It could be that you have reached the law of diminishing returns on calorie cutting. In prolonged dieting, nature tends to economize on calories.

—:—

THE BODY SEEMS able to adjust itself to a slightly lower level of metabolism in order to conserve fuel. This adjustment of the body to run with greater economy of energy does not occur with short-term diets.

While this is a protective measure on nature's part to help out when less food is obtainable, from the reducer's standpoint, it's a handicap.

When keeping weight down is a struggle, it is important to eat three meals a day so as to take advantage of the specific dynamic action of food. The effect of food in raising the metabolism above the basal level is called its specific dynamic action.

The metabolism begins to rise about an hour after a meal is eaten, continues to rise for about three hours, then decreases. Protein causes the greatest rise in metabolism.

From this explanation, it is easy to figure that on three meals a day the metabolism is kept elevated for many hours. This explains how it is possible to lose more weight by dividing the day's calories into three meals than it is if the bulk of calories are eaten at one big meal, say at dinner.

Muscular activity steps up calorie burning more than any other single factor. A daily walk plus regular non-strenuous calisthenics will help you to lose weight while eating enough food to feel satisfied and happy.

A safe diet is deficient in only one respect—calories. While fuel can be used from any source, the repair and regulating materials come chiefly from protective foods.

HERE ARE the foods required daily: Milk, skim milk or buttermilk, 1 pint; lean meat, fish or fowl, 4 to 6 ounces, cooked weight; 1 egg or a half cup of cottage cheese; vegetables and fruits, 4 servings each, including one citrus fruit and one dark green vegetable; bread or alternates, 2 servings.

In prolonged dieting, it is of the utmost importance that all the protective foods be furnished in adequate amounts.

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet" and illustrated exercise leaflet entitled "Away With Middle Spread." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Senate Action Upon Stewart Faces Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee meets today, but it may postpone action on Potter Stewart's nomination to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Stewart, nominated by President Eisenhower Jan. 17, has been serving on the court since October when he received a recess appointment while Congress was not in session.

There was some question whether a quorum would be on hand at today's committee meeting. A conference of all Republican senators is being held about the same time to discuss labor legislation.

In addition, two committee members, Sens. William Langer (R-ND) and John L. McClellan (D-Ark), raised the possibility they may not be ready to act on Stewart's nomination.

Langer said he wants a chance to read the record of the committee's hearings before he acts.

McClellan told a reporter he doesn't know whether he will ask that Stewart be recalled for further questioning.

At the committee's first hearing on the nomination, McClellan questioned Stewart about the Supreme Court's unanimous 1954 decision that racially segregated public schools are unconstitutional.

McClellan indicated afterward that he wanted to pursue this questioning further, but he was not present for the committee's second hearing.

Stewart, a 44-year-old Ohio Republican, was a member of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals when Eisenhower named him to the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Harold M. Burton, also from Ohio, who retired.

How To Curb Child Who Throws Tantrums

A mother of two boys, 9 and 11, writes that the younger one does well at school and evinces good manners and behavior there. "But at home," her letter says, "he can be a defiant and vengeful child, given to tantrums and scenes. He thinks things must be done immediately when he requests them," she says. "When he's asked to do something, however, he won't do it until he is good and ready." To handle this I suggested that, when he should do something, she tell him to do it instead of asking him. If he does not begin and finish it promptly, a penalty should be set. At such times, it is unwise for this mother to argue or repeat a command. She should act decisively and firmly.

WHEN, HOWEVER she asks him to do something, it's a request. He should then be allowed to choose whether to do it or not. She shouldn't get mad if he decides not to. It is well for her to make a request when she is fairly sure he will comply. If he does comply, she should approve warmly.

"He cries when he doesn't get his way," her letter stated.

I suggested that she never reward him by letting him have what he wants if he cries for it.

"He also has a violent temper," she wrote, "even to the point of going into a rage. At times the only thing to do is to whip him."

I suggested that she never let him get his way through a rage. When he's in a tantrum, she should act calmly, say nothing, do nothing, keep cool.

—:—

IT WOULD not be wise to use her tongue to punish him. Words can be too piercing and poisonous and leave a bad taste.

Generally, she should play up this lad's good traits, build on his strengths, celebrate his successes. Dad probably can do most to bring out the best in this boy.

My bulletins, "Quarreling and Fighting" and "Tantrums: Prevention and Correction," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Ruling Waited In Road Death

A six-member coroner's jury will convene tonight at 7:30 in New Cumberland to rule on the death of a Newell man struck by an auto on Route 66 Friday night.

Following the inquest in the office of Squire John D. Herron, Hancock County authorities will hold a hearing for William Swoger, 22, of 1432 Dresden Ave., driver of a sports car that struck Howard Strum, 44, of near Congo, deputies said.

Strum, father of 8 and an employe of the Globe Brick Co. plant at Newell, died in City Hospital at 11:35 p. m. of injuries received a short time earlier in the mishap.

Deputies at the sheriff's office said Swoger was released under a bond of $1,000. A passenger in the Corvette, Claude Vernon Roberts, 21, of 317 Grant St., Newell, was questioned early Saturday and later released, deputies reported. Weirton State Police now are in charge of the investigation.

Funeral services were to be held today at 3:30 at the Arner Chapel in Chester for Mr. Strum, who was Hancock County's first traffic victim of 1959.

In action over the weekend, deputies arrested James A. Moore, 25, of East Liverpool for driving without an operator's license. He was cited Saturday at 1:30 p. m. on Route 66 and posted a $25 for a bond for a later appearance before Squire Herron.

Deputies also reported that some $300 damage occurred to the 1959 Pontiac coupe of John M. Grimes, 29, of Weirton when his car struck and killed a deer Sunday at 2:05 a. m. on Route 2 south of New Cumberland. Walter McCrea, county game warden, was to dispose of the carcass today.

Woman Hospitalized After Car Strikes Pole

A Wellsville area nurse was admitted to City Hospital for examination for possible injuries received when her car struck a utility pole at 9th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, shortly before 8 a. m. today.

No injuries were listed for Mrs. Rhea Nile, 46, wife of Hugh Nile, 1252 Hillcrest Rd., hospital authorities said. The car struck a utility pole on the corner, according to police, who still are investigating.

DAR Opens Convention Tonight At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Campaigning for president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution is a bigtime project that has taken this year's two candidates across the country.

The cost?

"Plenty," says Mrs. Ashmead White of Lubec, Maine, vice president of an investment firm.

"I don't think there'd be any way of knowing," says Mrs. Ralph W. Newland of St. Joseph, Mich., who heads a family corporation.

Their long campaign comes to an end Thursday, when one or the other will be elected to the top office of the DAR. Each heads a slate of 12 national officers.

The election will be the high point of the DAR's 68th Continental Congress, which opens tonight with an address by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff.

Both candidates have slogans, campaign managers, and hospitality suites. Both have gone to the hustings. But it isn't quite like any political elections you know.

The issues seem obscure.

And there's more socializing than soliloquizing.

Both women have hotel suite headquarters, open from early morning to late at night, serving coffee and snacks.

"We'll stay open as long as we have interested people—and we have been swamped," said Mrs. Newland.

Mrs. White, Maine's first candidate for the top DAR post, had a homestate coffee in her honor scheduled for three hours this morning.

4-H Club News

Plans for activities on Rural Life Sunday, May 3, were discussed when the Hancock County 4-H Leaders Association met Thursday afternoon in New Cumberland.

Hancock County 4-H Clubs will attend church services in a group and will be recognized. The Cherokee Club of near Chester will conduct an evening service at 7:30 p. m. in the Lawrenceville Mission, Mrs. Mary Schladen, leader, reported.

James Arehart reported on a nature walk scheduled May 9 at Tomlinson Run State Park near Pughtown. Miss Helen Petrakis, 4-H agent, said posters for a health program April 29 at New Cumberland High School must be turned in to her by Wednesday for judging.

The group voted to donate $10 to the National 4-H Center in Washington. The next meeting will be May 21. Miss Iris Cuppy is president.

James Skeels of Lisbon R. D. 4 was elected president of the Columbiana County 4-H Junior Leadership Club at a meeting Thursday night at Lisbon Grange Hall.

Jonathan Gamble of Winona was elected vice president; Carol Hawkins of Salem R. D., secretary; William Skeels of Lisbon R. D. 4, Alan Knizat, news reporter, Sue Ernst, devotion leader, and Donna Denny, song leader. The last three all live at Salem R. D.

Miss Julia Shank and Don Myers, extension agents in 4-H work, led discussion on progress planning and how junior leaders can help their local clubs.

Seventy - five attended. The Salem Junior Farmers and Farmerettes served lunch.

A first aid demonstration opened the meeting of the Calcutta Golden Girls 4-H Club Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Earl Broadbent of Calcutta. Participating were Beverly Windle, Dotty Thompson, Jane Entrikin and Marilyn Smith.

Miss Thompson, president, conducted business and members answered roll call by paying dues.

Mrs. Broadbent taught various games she learned at a recent advisors' meeting at Cleveland.

The group repeated the 4-H pledge and sang "4-H Clover."

Refreshments were served by Sally Peck and Barbara Slayton.

The next meeting will be held Monday at the home of Mrs. Broadbent.

Seventy - five attended the clothing training session for 4-H advisors Friday at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in Salem.

Mrs. Orena Haynes, clothing specialist at Ohio State University, led discussion on selection of material and patterns, construction details, modeling and choice of accessories for 4-H clothing projects.

Advisors from Columbiana, Mahoning, Stark and Portage counties attended.

Ruling Waited In Road Death

A six-member coroner's jury will convene tonight at 7:30 in New Cumberland to rule on the death of a Newell man struck by an auto on Route 66 Friday night.

Following the inquest in the office of Squire John D. Herron, Hancock County authorities will hold a hearing for William Swoger, 22, of 1432 Dresden Ave., driver of a sports car that struck Howard Strum, 44, of near Congo, deputies said.

Strum, father of 8 and an employe of the Globe Brick Co. plant at Newell, died in City Hospital at 11:35 p. m. of injuries received a short time earlier in the mishap.

Deputies at the sheriff's office said Swoger was released under a bond of $1,000. A passenger in the Corvette, Claude Vernon Roberts, 21, of 317 Grant St., Newell, was questioned early Saturday and later released, deputies reported. Weirton State Police now are in charge of the investigation.

Funeral services were to be held today at 3:30 at the Arner Chapel in Chester for Mr. Strum, who was Hancock County's first traffic victim of 1959.

In action over the weekend, deputies arrested James A. Moore, 25, of East Liverpool for driving without an operator's license. He was cited Saturday at 1:30 p. m. on Route 66 and posted a $25 for a bond for a later appearance before Squire Herron.

Deputies also reported that some $300 damage occurred to the 1959 Pontiac coupe of John M. Grimes, 29, of Weirton when his car struck and killed a deer Sunday at 2:05 a. m. on Route 2 south of New Cumberland. Walter McCrea, county game warden, was to dispose of the carcass today.

Woman Hospitalized After Car Strikes Pole

A Wellsville area nurse was admitted to City Hospital for examination for possible injuries received when her car struck a utility pole at 9th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, shortly before 8 a. m. today.

No injuries were listed for Mrs. Rhea Nile, 46, wife of Hugh Nile, 1252 Hillcrest Rd., hospital authorities said. The car struck a utility pole on the corner, according to police, who still are investigating.

DAR Opens Convention Tonight At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Campaigning for president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution is a bigtime project that has taken this year's two candidates across the country.

The cost?

"Plenty," says Mrs. Ashmead White of Lubec, Maine, vice president of an investment firm.

"I don't think there'd be any way of knowing," says Mrs. Ralph W. Newland of St. Joseph, Mich., who heads a family corporation.

Their long campaign comes to an end Thursday, when one or the other will be elected to the top office of the DAR. Each heads a slate of 12 national officers.

The election will be the high point of the DAR's 68th Continental Congress, which opens tonight with an address by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff.

Both candidates have slogans, campaign managers, and hospitality suites. Both have gone to the hustings. But it isn't quite like any political elections you know.

The issues seem obscure.

And there's more socializing than soliloquizing.

Both women have hotel suite headquarters, open from early morning to late at night, serving coffee and snacks.

"We'll stay open as long as we have interested people—and we have been swamped," said Mrs. Newland.

Mrs. White, Maine's first candidate for the top DAR post, had a homestate coffee in her honor scheduled for three hours this morning.

The group voted to donate $10 to the National 4-H Center in Washington. The next meeting will be May 21. Miss Iris Cuppy is president.

James Skeels of Lisbon R. D. 4 was elected president of the Columbiana County 4-H Junior Leadership Club at a meeting Thursday night at Lisbon Grange Hall.

Jonathan Gamble of Winona was elected vice president; Carol Hawkins of Salem R. D., secretary; William Skeels of Lisbon R. D. 4, Alan Knizat, news reporter, Sue Ernst, devotion leader, and Donna Denny, song leader. The last three all live at Salem R. D.

Miss Julia Shank and Don Myers, extension agents in 4-H work, led discussion on progress planning and how junior leaders can help their local clubs.

Seventy - five attended. The Salem Junior Farmers and Farmerettes served lunch.

A first aid demonstration opened the meeting of the Calcutta Golden Girls 4-H Club Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Earl Broadbent of Calcutta. Participating were Beverly Windle, Dotty Thompson, Jane Entrikin and Marilyn Smith.

Miss Thompson, president, conducted business and members answered roll call by paying dues.

Mrs. Broadbent taught various games she learned at a recent advisors' meeting at Cleveland.

The group repeated the 4-H pledge and sang "4-H Clover."

Refreshments were served by Sally Peck and Barbara Slayton.

The next meeting will be held Monday at the home of Mrs. Broadbent.

Seventy - five attended the clothing training session for 4-H advisors Friday at the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. in Salem.

Mrs. Orena Haynes, clothing specialist at Ohio State University, led discussion on selection of material and patterns, construction details, modeling and choice of accessories for 4-H clothing projects.

Mrs. Mary Ann Harrison, health nurse, said a West Virginia law requires that all children entering school for the first time be given shots for whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox.

She urged parents to take their children to clinics in Chester, Newell, Weirton and New Cumberland so that their health requirements will be met before the new school term in September.

A clinic will be held Tuesday from 10 a. m. till noon in the Hancock County Federal Savings & Loan Association building in Chester. Another is planned April 28 in the department's new headquarters in the Aaron Building in Newell.

Missing 31 Hours, City Youth Found In Movie Theater

A 15-year-old boy was returned to his parents Sunday afternoon by police after being missing more than 31 hours.

Patrick Geon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geon, 915 Chestnut St., was located in the American Theater at 2:45 p. m. yesterday by Capt. R. H. Pyle and Patrolman Paul Carter.

The youth left home at 7:15 a. m. Saturday, passed 13 of his morning newspapers and then left 31 undelivered in a sack in Green Ln.

His parents notified police at 1 p. m. when he failed to return and a search was launched. Because of the discovery of the paper sack with the undelivered newspapers, his parents feared foul play and police searched an empty building and also checked throughout the city until nearly midnight, when they learned he was back in the city, Capt. Pyle said.

Police and his parents said they learned the boy hitchhiked to Pittsburgh and later returned here after 11 p. m. Saturday. Learning of the search, he apparently was too frightened to return home, they said.

Mrs. Mary Ann Harrison, health nurse, said a West Virginia law requires that all children entering school for the first time be given shots for whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox.

She urged parents to take their children to clinics in Chester, Newell, Weirton and New Cumberland so that their health requirements will be met before the new school term in September.

A clinic will be held Tuesday from 10 a. m. till noon in the Hancock County Federal Savings & Loan Association building in Chester. Another is planned April 28 in the department's new headquarters in the Aaron Building in Newell.

Missing 31 Hours, City Youth Found In Movie Theater

A 15-year-old boy was returned to his parents Sunday afternoon by police after being missing more than 31 hours.

Patrick Geon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geon, 915 Chestnut St., was located in the American Theater at 2:45 p. m. yesterday by Capt. R. H. Pyle and Patrolman Paul Carter.

The youth left home at 7:15 a. m. Saturday, passed 13 of his morning newspapers and then left 31 undelivered in a sack in Green Ln.

His parents notified police at 1 p. m. when he failed to return and a search was launched. Because of the discovery of the paper sack with the undelivered newspapers, his parents feared foul play and police searched an empty building and also checked throughout the city until nearly midnight, when they learned he was back in the city, Capt. Pyle said.

Police and his parents said they learned the boy hitchhiked to Pittsburgh and later returned here after 11 p. m. Saturday Learning of the search, he apparently was too frightened to return home, they said.

Strict Discipline Set Up At Prison

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP)—Iron discipline behind their cell doors took the place of a 36-hour madness for 433 inmates of the Montana State Prison today.

Armed National Guardsmen whose early morning blitz foiled a convict escape try and rescued 21 hostages continued on duty.

The soldiers and prison guards began a search of the prisoners Saturday, within hours after the uprising was quelled. Two convict ringleaders died in the furious action which ended the worst prison incident in years. A deputy warden was slain late Thursday.

Warden Floyd E. Powell ordered the convicts to their cells, without privileges, they are being given sandwiches and coffee in their cells.

Powell said he expects to conduct extensive convict interviews to pinpoint the cause of the violence that began last Thursday.

An estimated 15 convicts were said by officials to have planned and executed the revolt. Warden Powell described the rebellion itself as a clever cover for the prisoners' efforts to tunnel to safety—an effort that failed when the diggers ran into an underground concrete slab.

The troublemakers, Powell said, have been isolated.

"Discipline is firm and tight but fair," the warden said.

One of the two ringleaders killed during the final assault, Jerry Myles, 44, was believed to have been digging when National Guardsmen burst in under a cover of bazooka, rifle and machine gun fire.

Myles and Lee Smart, 19, retreated to the prison's northwest tower. There, Smart apparently killed his companion with a rifle shot, then took his own life as the troops closed in.

The other victim of the revolt was Deputy Warden Ted Rothe, 40, Smart is believed to have killed him with a rifle shot in the back.

State Raiders Hit 2 Taverns

A Route 2 tavern proprietor was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury and another tavern operator and a waitress were fined Saturday following raids Friday night by West Virginia State Police and agents of the West Virginia Beer Commissioner's office.

Arrested at the Capri Club just outside Weirton, Daniel Batalo was bound over to the September grand jury under $200 bond on charges of possession of gambling devices.

Thomas Dallas, operator of the Town and Country Club, was charged with possession of gambling devices and Millie Karlen was accused of selling illegal intoxicants. Both pleaded guilty before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton Saturday and were fined $100 each.

State police confiscated three slot machines in each tavern.

The Town and Country proprietor signed a waiver for the destruction of the three "slots" taken from his establishment.

The United States Department of Justice was created in 1789.

State Raiders Hit 2 Taverns

A Route 2 tavern proprietor was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury and another tavern operator and a waitress were fined Saturday following raids Friday night by West Virginia State Police and agents of the West Virginia Beer Commissioner's office.

Arrested at the Capri Club just outside Weirton, Daniel Batalo was bound over to the September grand jury under $200 bond on charges of possession of gambling devices.

Thomas Dallas, operator of the Town and Country Club, was charged with possession of gambling devices and Millie Karlen was accused of selling illegal intoxicants. Both pleaded guilty before Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton Saturday and were fined $100 each.

State police confiscated three slot machines in each tavern.

The Town and Country proprietor signed a waiver for the destruction of the three "slots" taken from his establishment.

The United States Department of Justice was created in 1789.

Report Read At Annual Meeting

'AP Meeting Challenge,' Its Directors Emphasize

NEW YORK (AP)—Directors of The Associated Press said today that during the past year the AP had met the biggest challenge of world news events since World War II.

Reviewing events, the directors said:

"The cold war continued. There were political upheavals and crises on every continent. France underwent a fundamental change in government under De Gaulle. A divided Berlin keeps Europe in turmoil.

"The datelines from Iraq, Lebanon, Quemoy, Tibet and Cuba remind us of the scope of the news coverage problem.

"There were obstacles to fair and factual news reporting the world around, including restricted access to public information in the United States."

"The Associated Press has a strong position in meeting its responsibilities," the directors said.

"It is a cooperative world-wide news organization answerable to no government, no group of stockholders or to any special interest.

"It bears a great obligation and equal opportunity to serve its members, its readers and listeners everywhere. The need for a cooperative news service, owned and controlled by its users, has never been greater."

The report was read at the AP annual membership meeting in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The program included election of six directors, because of expiring terms, and action upon regular membership applications from 18 associate member newspapers.

Looking back to 1939, the directors said:

"The board recognizes a significant anniversary: it was 20 years ago that the membership instructed the board to make Associated Press news available to qualified radio stations for commercial broadcast."

Recalling that this action had followed years of debate as to whether The Associated Press should serve newspapers exclusively, the directors commented:

"Radio not only pays for its own distribution and overhead costs, but makes a substantial financial contribution to the general service which has been increasingly important in financing necessary expansion during the past two decades.

"Radio members now provide news from almost 600 communities in which there are no member newspapers. In increasing numbers, television members are contributing spot news pictures to the Wirephoto network."

The directors said the AP staff recorded notable achievements and that the AP also "went outside its own staff for some unusual material which was widely used."

The directors reported "a moderate growth in newspapers membership in The Associated Press," continued gains in broadcasting outlets at a gratifying rate and continued expansion overseas on a sound basis.

Wiggins Named Head Of Newspaper Editors

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times-Herald, is the new president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Wiggins, who has been vice president, succeeded George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, was chosen first vice president in the balloting of the society's board of directors. Felix R. McKnight, executive editor of the Dallas Times-Herald, became second vice president.

Under the ASNE tradition of elevating its first vice president to the presidency, Catledge came into line for succession to the job a year hence.

Also elected were Lee Hills, executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, Detroit, as secretary; and Wallace Lomoe, managing editor of the Milwaukee Journal, as treasurer.

Road-E-O Planned May 10 Here For Youthful Drivers

Robert Ferguson, chairman, announced today the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Teen-Age Road-E-O will be held Sunday, May 10.

Arrangements have been made to use the Loblaw parking lot on Bradshaw Ave. for the driving contest. A written examination will be given at East Liverpool High School prior to the driving test, Ferguson said.

Auto dealers have been asked to provide new autos for the event. The Standard Oil Co. again will provide plaque awards and the scholarship prizes that will be granted to the winning boys and girls in the state finals to be held near Mason. The state prizes are $1,000 for first place; $500 for second, and $200 for third.

A local boy and girl will be sent to the state contest. Ferguson pointed out the Road-E-O is not a drag strip race nor a contest in speed or safe driving. It is a test of driving skill and knowledge of driving regulations.

Standard Oil has provided $50 for local prizes.

Glaciers To Be Melted In Bid For Irrigation

TOKYO, (AP) — Communist China says that 3,000 scientists have begun a vast project to water farmlands in northwest China by melting enormous glaciers.

Peiping radio said men and airplanes will spread black materials, mostly coal dust and burned grass and wood, on the snow-capped Kilien Mountains in Kansu province.

The black will absorb the sun's rays, melting the snow and ice. Airplanes will bomb critical points on the glacier.

In two months, the scientists expect to obtain enough water to irrigate more than 50,000 acres of potential farmland.

California, which ranked second in size to Texas among states, now ranks third to Alaska.

Preliminary Hearing Set In Murder Charge

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A 49-year-old Cincinnati man will appear before a U.S. commissioner here today for a preliminary hearing on a murder charge filed in Ohio.

Frank Poindexter, who officials said has waived extradition, was arrested Sunday. FBI agents took him into custody near the home of his sister, northeast of Milan in southeastern Indiana.

Poindexter is charged with first-degree murder, shooting with intent to kill and armed robbery in Hamilton, Ohio, in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Herschel Hires of Hamilton, during a robbery April 10.

Her husband was wounded in the holdup and is in poor condition at Fort Hamilton hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Harvester Company Will Import Tractors

CHICAGO (AP) — International Harvester Co. will import small two and three-plow diesel-powered farm tractors produced by its British subsidiary, the firm announced today.

A company executive said the tractors have sold in Canada for two years and received "unusually fine acceptance with Canadian farmers."

This is the first time Harvester has imported tractors into the United States.

Castro Backs Free Vote At First Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cuban people are more interested in getting back to work than having free elections right away, says Fidel Castro.

But the bearded revolutionary leader adds he wants free elections in Cuba as soon as possible. He's not sure when that might be.

Real democracy is not possible where people are hungry, Castro said in a television interview Sunday night.

He had another chance to expound his views today, in a luncheon appearance before the National Press Club.

Castro and Vice President Richard M. Nixon talked for two hours and 20 minutes at the Capitol Sunday night in a conference originally scheduled for 15 minutes. Neither disclosed what they talked about, but Castro described the meeting as very friendly.

"This is a revolution," he told his television audience. "We have to attain many problems. We are working. As many more people help us, the more we will be understood and the faster we can dissolve our problems and the faster will be the election, because we are most interested in them.

"In the past the politician went through the country buying votes, offering money to those who were unemployed, offering a bed in the hospital, offering a place in the schools, offering to buy the vote. There was a lot of corruption.

"Real democracy is not possible over hungry people, because corruption disrupts democracy. Real democracy ought to be established with all over social justice and employment for everybody."

The bearded Cuban prime minister was asked during the interview when he intended to have an election in Cuba.

"What we want," he said, "is to get as soon as possible a condition for a free election. It is not in any condition more than four years, in any condition."

As for where his heart lies in the struggle between communism and democracy, he said "really, same as democracy." He added "I am not a communist.

He does not have many Communists in his government, but it is possible "that there be someone."

Knife Wounds Fatal

LONGON, Ohio (AP) — Knife wounds apparently suffered in a street brawl early Saturday were fatal Sunday to James Hoosier, 32, of London. He died in Springfield City Hospital. Police said four men are being held for investigation.

FORMER PRESIDENT Harry S. Truman, speaking at ceremonies Sunday dedicating his birthplace as a public shrine, said "our government came by blood, sweat and tears" and the youth of the nation must realize this. Bishop Bayne Will Assume Key Anglican Church Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne Jr., of Seattle, Wash., will take over next Jan. 1 a new post that will make him the second most influential figure in the worldwide Anglican communion.

Bishop Bayne, who has headed the Olympia Diocese of Western Washington will become executive officer of the global family of 40 million Christians. His appointment is a move to strengthen church ties across national borders.

Appointment of Bishop Bayne was announced Sunday. He was chosen for the post by the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England.

Bishop Bayne, who will be outranked only by the archbishop, is the first American named as a international prelate in anglicanism.

The new position was created last summer by the Lambeth Conference, a gathering of Anglican bishops from throughout the world held every 10 years.

Bishop Bayne, 50, will have his headquarters in London. He will administer two key agencies of world Anglicanism—the Advisory Council of Missionary Strategy, which serves as the central planning group for missionary work, and the Consultative Body of the Lambeth Conference, which serves as an interim executive body between Lambeth conferences.

Anglican churches, like the Episcopal Church in the United States, are wholly independent, self-governing bodies.

They all sprang from the Church of England. They look to it as the senior see. They are akin in worship, doctrine and ecclesiastical organization.

Bishop Bayne will continue to serve the United States Episcopal Church as bishop in charge of its 11 American congregations in Europe.

Second Brother Goes On Trial For Shooting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A second Woodgeard brother goes on trial today for a fatal shooting.

This one, Ralph, 39, is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of his brother, Orville, 38. Last Monday, another brother, Norman, 29, was convicted of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Jean. Norman was sentenced to 1-20 years in Ohio Pentitentiary but is out on bond pending an appeal.

Ralph allegedly shot Orville five times then cut his throat in a dispute Nov. 3 over money.

Ralph waived a jury trial. Three judges, Neal F. Zimmers and Charles Lee Mills of Montgomery County Common Pleas Court and Warren Young of the Warren County Court will hear the case.

The Lima State Hospital said Ralph was insane at the time of the killing, but has since been restored to sanity.

19 Cars Are Derailed In Wreck Near Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Nineteen cars of a 29-car New York Central freight train were derailed just west of here Sunday.

No one was injured, sheriff's deputies said.

Railroad detectives have not determined the cause of the derailment, but they theorize that one of the rails was split.

The accident happened near Armitage.

"Boudoir" literally means a pouting or sulking place instead of a place of retirement. It is derived from the French verb, "bouder," meaning to pout.

Cincinnati Cites Three In Blue Law Checkup

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police have resumed blue law enforcement with citations to operators of three businesses.

The citations were handed out Sunday to Sam Smith, 49, operator of a clothing store; Maurice Smith, 76, manager of a department store, and Leonard Rosenbaum, 29, operator of a hobby shop.

Police said they checked the three businesses Saturday and found all were open. Under city officials' interpretation of the Sunday laws, a merchant may open Sunday if closed Saturday.

Opening Test Due In Senate On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans caucus today to work toward a more unified position at the outset of the voting on the Kennedy labor regulation bill.

The Senate debate on the bill reaches the showdown stage this week, with the first vote set for Tuesday afternoon.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said in advance of the conference of all GOP senators that consideration would be given to a move which would bring the initial test on a key Eisenhower administration proposal.

As it stands now, the first roll call will come on an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Eryin (D-NC) to knock out the measure all changes it would make in the 12-year-old Taft-Hartley law.

Some of these changes long have been sought by labor. AFL-CIO leaders have said they would switch their stand and oppose the bill if the changes are eliminated.

Two of the major Taft-Hartley amendments in the Kennedy bill favored by labor would permit replaced strikers to vote in a bargaining election and would legalize agreements between employers and labor unions in the construction industry before the workers have been hired.

Provisions which the administration seeks to add would toughen considerably present Taft-Hartley law sections aimed at secondary boycotts and picketing designed to force workers to join unions.

Discoverer Reported Burning Up In Space

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Discoverer II is on the way down.

It may have already perished, according to an Air Force spokesman. He said the shape of the satellite's orbit indicated it would burn up in the atmosphere between 7 a.m. EST today and 10 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Discoverer II was fired into a polar orbit April 13 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, 150 miles north of here. It ejected its nose capsule over the arctic. The cone is still being sought.

Each orbit has been bringing the satellite closer to the altitude where the friction of thicker air will burn it up. Sunday night it was 150 miles from the earth at its closest point.

School Group Defers Action On Cage Court

Action on a proposed basketball court was deferred until the May meeting when members of the Highlandtown Home and School Association met Friday night.

A committee comprised of Glenn Buzzard, president, Hugh Smith and Wilbur Hays reported on prices received and the approximate cost of the court. A discussion followed. Robert McPherson, Jim Hogue and Kyle Baker were appointed as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the next meeting.

The singing of "America" and the Lord's Prayer preceded business.

A variety program was presented as follows: Selections, "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland" and "Beautiful Ohio," sung by teachers and custodians, Mrs. Catherine Leatherberry, Mrs. Leah Elliott, Mrs. Gladys Boyd, Mrs. Alice Faloon and James Kessel, accompanied by Robert Carter, principal; humorous reading, Mrs. Agnes McKenzie; piano solos, Robert Carter; playlet, "The Income Tax," Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hays, Kenny and Kathy Rose, and selections by "The Four Sharps," comprised of Carl Leatherberry, William Barker, J. H. Lucas and Robert Dornick.

The attendance banner was won by the third and fourth grades taught by Mrs. Elliott. Lunch was sold by the eighth grade mothers. A bake sale was held to help finance the eighth graders' trip to Washington next Thursday. The next meeting will be May 27, when eighth grade graduation ceremonies will be held. School will be dismissed May 29.

★ ★ ★

Lovely actress Nan Peterson recently told Groucho Marx she thought beauty contests were ridiculous, adding, "I don't think a girl has to have her success depend on wearing a bathing suit".

"Well, that's true", said the NBC-WIIC quizmaster, "but you try not wearing one and see what happens".

TOPS IN SPORTS

Nothing keeps the viewers hopping in the Tri-State area like bowling and wrestling. You'll get plenty of both just by keeping your eye on Channel 11.

"Jackpot Bowling", Friday nights immediately following the fights, is a show full of suspense and excitement as two of the nation's top bowlers compete for thousands of dollars in prizes.

Saturday afternoon at 5, Channel 11's Len Johnson emcees "Bowling Time". The nation's foremost bowling stars appear each week in this series and bowling experts give many useful tips to help you become a more polished bowler. Len will be interviewing some of the country's best bowlers including many from the WIIC viewing area.

Wrestling seems to have taken the Tri-State by storm. Just about everything happens when mat stars like Johnny Valentine, Argentine Rocco, the Shiek, Frank Townsend and many others match grunts 'n' groans in the Channel 11 studio ring at 6 each Saturday evening. It's Pittsburgh's ONLY live studio wrestling show and it's the talk of the town.

Among the fans at ringside is a gal called "Ringside Rosie" who provides as much action as the grapplers. Yes sir, it's quite a show and it's one you just don't dare miss!

Next Sunday (April 26) see "Saps at Sea" with Laurel and Hardy.

You'll also laugh at the antics of "Amos and Andy" each weekday evening at 6 on WIIC and you housewives had better not miss a single, sparkling episode of "I Married Joan" weekdays at 1 p. m.

With the "Bob Cummings Show" coming along each Tuesday at 9:30, "Milton Berle" on tap Wednesdays at 9, "Laugh-Line" now seen Thursdays at 9, "The Honeymooners" every Saturday at 7 and "The Steve Allen Show" Sunday nights at 7:30, it's no wonder that more and more Tri-State viewers are turning to Channel 11 for comedy fun.

Castro Backs Free Vote At First Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cuban people are more interested in getting back to work than having free elections right away, says Fidel Castro.

But the bearded revolutionary leader adds he wants free elections in Cuba as soon as possible. He's not sure when that might be.

Real democracy is not possible where people are hungry, Castro said in a television interview Sunday night.

He had another chance to expound his views today, in a luncheon appearance before the National Press Club.

Castro and Vice President Richard M. Nixon talked for two hours and 20 minutes at the Capitol Sunday night in a conference originally scheduled for 15 minutes. Neither disclosed what they talked about, but Castro described the meeting as very friendly.

"This is a revolution," he told his television audience. "We have to attain many problems. We are working. As many more people help us, the more we will be understood and the faster we can dissolve our problems and the faster will be the election, because we are most interested in them.

"In the past the politician went through the country buying votes, offering money to those who were unemployed, offering a bed in the hospital, offering a place in the schools, offering to buy the vote. There was a lot of corruption.

"Real democracy is not possible over hungry people, because corruption disrupts democracy. Real democracy ought to be established with all over social justice and employment for everybody."

The bearded Cuban prime minister was asked during the interview when he intended to have an election in Cuba.

"What we want," he said, "is to get as soon as possible a condition for a free election. It is not in any condition more than four years, in any condition."

As for where his heart lies in the struggle between communism and democracy, he said "really, same as democracy." He added "I am not a communist.

He does not have many Communists in his government, but it is possible "that there be someone."

Bishop Bayne Will Assume Key Anglican Church Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne Jr., of Seattle, Wash., will take over next Jan. 1 a new post that will make him the second most influential figure in the worldwide Anglican communion.

Bishop Bayne, who has headed the Olympia Diocese of Western Washington will become executive officer of the global family of 40 million Christians. His appointment is a move to strengthen church ties across national borders.

Appointment of Bishop Bayne was announced Sunday. He was chosen for the post by the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England.

Bishop Bayne, who will be outranked only by the archbishop, is the first American named as a international prelate in anglicanism.

The new position was created last summer by the Lambeth Conference, a gathering of Anglican bishops from throughout the world held every 10 years.

Bishop Bayne, 50, will have his headquarters in London. He will administer two key agencies of world Anglicanism—the Advisory Council of Missionary Strategy, which serves as the central planning group for missionary work, and the Consultative Body of the Lambeth Conference, which serves as an interim executive body between Lambeth conferences.

Anglican churches, like the Episcopal Church in the United States, are wholly independent, self-governing bodies.

They all sprang from the Church of England. They look to it as the senior see. They are akin in worship, doctrine and ecclesiastical organization.

Bishop Bayne will continue to serve the United States Episcopal Church as bishop in charge of its 11 American congregations in Europe.

Second Brother Goes On Trial For Shooting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A second Woodgeard brother goes on trial today for a fatal shooting.

This one, Ralph, 39, is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of his brother, Orville, 38. Last Monday, another brother, Norman, 29, was convicted of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Jean. Norman was sentenced to 1-20 years in Ohio Pentitentiary but is out on bond pending an appeal.

Ralph allegedly shot Orville five times then cut his throat in a dispute Nov. 3 over money.

Ralph waived a jury trial. Three judges, Neal F. Zimmers and Charles Lee Mills of Montgomery County Common Pleas Court and Warren Young of the Warren County Court will hear the case.

The Lima State Hospital said Ralph was insane at the time of the killing, but has since been restored to sanity.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Nineteen cars of a 29-car New York Central freight train were derailed just west of here Sunday.

The citations were handed out Sunday to Sam Smith, 49, operator of a clothing store; Maurice Smith, 76, manager of a department store, and Leonard Rosenbaum, 29, operator of a hobby shop.

Opening Test Due In Senate On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans caucus today to work toward a more unified position at the outset of the voting on the Kennedy labor regulation bill.

The Senate debate on the bill reaches the showdown stage this week, with the first vote set for Tuesday afternoon.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said in advance of the conference of all GOP senators that consideration would be given to a move which would bring the initial test on a key Eisenhower administration proposal.

As it stands now, the first roll call will come on an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Eryin (D-NC) to knock out the measure all changes it would make in the 12-year-old Taft-Hartley law.

Some of these changes long have been sought by labor. AFL-CIO leaders have said they would switch their stand and oppose the bill if the changes are eliminated.

Two of the major Taft-Hartley amendments in the Kennedy bill favored by labor would permit replaced strikers to vote in a bargaining election and would legalize agreements between employers and labor unions in the construction industry before the workers have been hired.

Provisions which the administration seeks to add would toughen considerably present Taft-Hartley law sections aimed at secondary boycotts and picketing designed to force workers to join unions.

Discoverer Reported Burning Up In Space

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Discoverer II is on the way down.

It may have already perished, according to an Air Force spokesman. He said the shape of the satellite's orbit indicated it would burn up in the atmosphere between 7 a.m. EST today and 10 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Discoverer II was fired into a polar orbit April 13 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, 150 miles north of here. It ejected its nose capsule over the arctic. The cone is still being sought.

Each orbit has been bringing the satellite closer to the altitude where the friction of thicker air will burn it up. Sunday night it was 150 miles from the earth at its closest point.

Anderson Warns That U.S. Must Cut Debt When It Can

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson said today it would be immoral to postpone paying off part of the record national debt in prosperous times.

Furthermore, Anderson declared a budget surplus that would permit debt repayment is one of the steps required to head off inflation.

"We must realize that long term economic growth in real terms can be achieved only without inflation," Anderson said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of The Associated Press.

He rejected arguments of some administration critics who want to stimulate the economy through greater federal spending.

"We must not, as we come out of a recession, seek to force the economy into a quick boom which can later injure our long run capacity to produce," Anderson said.

The national debt now stands at 286 billion dollars — the highest point on record.

"To ignore the obligation of paying off some part of our debt during prosperous times is contrary to all of our American traditions of good faith and performance," Anderson said.

Anderson said he rejects talk that "efforts to balance the budget are without hope."

He recalled that last January the administration estimated federal revenues would total 77 billion dollars in the 1960 fiscal year that begins July 1.

"Today," he said, "I believe there is even more evidence to support this estimate than there was last January."

This statement conflicted with a recent estimate by the House Ways and Means Committee staff that revenues will fall more than a billion dollars short of the administration's target.

31 At Meeting Planning City Memorial Rite

Plans for the city's observance of Memorial Day were furthered at a second meeting of the Joint Memorial Day Committee Friday night at City Hall.

Thirty - one representatives from 18 veterans' organizations and civic groups attended the meeting in charge of Louis Krawiec, commander of American Legion Post 374, who is chairman.

The program will be similar to last year but Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross said indications were more units will participate.

The committee has been invited to hold its service on Sunday preceding Memorial Day at St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

The holiday program will include a parade, placing of a wreath at the City Hall honor roll and ceremonies in front of Carnegie Library in the afternoon. In the morning, flowers will be strewn from the Chester bridge in memory of seamen who died in service.

Organizations represented at the meeting were American Legion Posts 4 and 374, Ground Observer Corps, Civil Defense, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66, Navy Mothers Club, Gold Star Mothers, Ladies of the GAR, Marine Corps League, Disabled American Veterans, Knights of Columbus, Marine Corps Reserve, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, fire department, Army Reserve, Shrine Oriental Band and Air Force and Navy recruiters.

3 Men Hurt When Car Shears Off Utility Pole

An Allegheny County man and two from Beaver County were in "good" condition today at City Hospital after their car swerved out of control and knocked down a utility pole of the Duquesne Light Co. Sunday at about 10 p. m. on Route 168 in Hookstown.

James Willy, 23, of South Heights, near Aliquippa, received a laceration of the chin and chest injuries after he lost control of the car when coming around a curve and hitting a bump in the road, the hospital said.

George Flick, 29, of Corapolis R. D. 3 and James Alexander of New Brighton R. D. 1 were passengers. Alexander received a laceration of the forehead.

Firemen Pick June 2-6 For Lawrenceville Fair

Lawrenceville volunteer firemen scheduled their annual fair June 2-6 at a special meeting Sunday at the fire station.

Ray Bryan was named general chairman of the fair. He will appoint committees later. Bryan, Sherman Williams and Guy Michaels will direct preparing the fair grounds.

A contract was signed with the Heck Amusement Co. for rides for the fair. Tickets now are available from firemen at reduced prices.

Plans were made for a fire drill to be held Thursday at 6 p. m. Okey Leaisure, president, was in charge. Nomination of officers will be held at the next meeting May 7.

Ticket Sales To Open Friday For Jaycee Post-Prom Event

Tickets for the Junior Chamber of Commerce post-prom party following the annual dance at East Liverpool High School May 15 will go on sale Friday at the school, George Hales, chairman, said today.

The tickets are being printed this week and will be available from members of the Student Council. They are $3 a couple to help defray the cost of the affair, he said.

More students attended the party last year than attended the prom. All high school students and their dates may attend the party, while only juniors and seniors may attend the dance.

The students will be chaperoned the entire time, he said. Plans call for the students to attend a feature picture at the Ceramic Theater at the conclusion of the dance. They then will return to the Memorial Auditorium, where they will be fed.

Two professional musical acts have been obtained through a Pittsburgh booking agency. The students themselves help select the entertainment. Dancing will be held to recorded music.

Death Takes Soft Drink Head, Husband Of Joan Crawford

NEW YORK (AP) — Soft-drink magnate Alfred N. Steele, husband of actress Joan Crawford, is dead at 57. He died in his sleep of a heart attack early Sunday at their lavish penthouse, just off Fifth Ave.

Miss Crawford found him dead in bed about 9:30 a.m. He had gone to bed around midnight, commenting he felt unusually tired. Miss Crawford was placed under a physician's care.

In 10 years with Pepsi-Cola, Steele introduced radical changes that tripled sales. He was board chairman and executive officer of Pepsi-Cola at his death.

Steele and Miss Crawford eloped in May 1955. She described their marriage as more exciting than some of her screen roles. It was his third and her fourth.

After the marriage, Joan, now 51, dropped her career and shared his life as a busy executive. "Ours is a husband and wife team," she said. She once estimated they had flown 125,000 miles around the world.

Steele was born in Nashville, Tenn., and attended Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Steele would have been 58 Friday. He had just finished a whirlwind six-week business trip with Joan, and they were to leave today on a 10-day vacation to Jamaica.

Anderson Warns That U.S. Must Cut Debt When It Can

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson said today it would be immoral to postpone paying off part of the record national debt in prosperous times.

Furthermore, Anderson declared a budget surplus that would permit debt repayment is one of the steps required to head off inflation.

"We must realize that long term economic growth in real terms can be achieved only without inflation," Anderson said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of The Associated Press.

He rejected arguments of some administration critics who want to stimulate the economy through greater federal spending.

"We must not, as we come out of a recession, seek to force the economy into a quick boom which can later injure our long run capacity to produce," Anderson said.

The national debt now stands at 286 billion dollars — the highest point on record.

"To ignore the obligation of paying off some part of our debt during prosperous times is contrary to all of our American traditions of good faith and performance," Anderson said.

Anderson said he rejects talk that "efforts to balance the budget are without hope."

He recalled that last January the administration estimated federal revenues would total 77 billion dollars in the 1960 fiscal year that begins July 1.

"Today," he said, "I believe there is even more evidence to support this estimate than there was last January."

This statement conflicted with a recent estimate by the House Ways and Means Committee staff that revenues will fall more than a billion dollars short of the administration's target.

31 At Meeting Planning City Memorial Rite

Plans for the city's observance of Memorial Day were furthered at a second meeting of the Joint Memorial Day Committee Friday night at City Hall.

Thirty - one representatives from 18 veterans' organizations and civic groups attended the meeting in charge of Louis Krawiec, commander of American Legion Post 374, who is chairman.

The program will be similar to last year but Safety - Service Director Joseph Ross said indications were more units will participate.

The committee has been invited to hold its service on Sunday preceding Memorial Day at St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

The holiday program will include a parade, placing of a wreath at the City Hall honor roll and ceremonies in front of Carnegie Library in the afternoon. In the morning, flowers will be strewn from the Chester bridge in memory of seamen who died in service.

Organizations represented at the meeting were American Legion Posts 4 and 374, Ground Observer Corps, Civil Defense, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66, Navy Mothers Club, Gold Star Mothers, Ladies of the GAR, Marine Corps League, Disabled American Veterans, Knights of Columbus, Marine Corps Reserve, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, fire department, Army Reserve, Shrine Oriental Band and Air Force and Navy recruiters.

The committee today asked survivors of any serviceman who has died since last Decoration Day to notify Mayor Lawrence at Ctiy Hall by postcard.

3 Men Hurt When Car Shears Off Utility Pole

An Allegheny County man and two from Beaver County were in "good" condition today at City Hospital after their car swerved out of control and knocked down a utility pole of the Duquesne Light Co. Sunday at about 10 p. m. on Route 168 in Hookstown.

James Willy, 23, of South Heights, near Aliquippa, received a laceration of the chin and chest injuries after he lost control of the car when coming around a curve and hitting a bump in the road, the hospital said.

George Flick, 29, of Corapolis R. D. 3 and James Alexander of New Brighton R. D. 1 were passengers. Alexander received a laceration of the forehead.

Firemen Pick June 2-6 For Lawrenceville Fair

Lawrenceville volunteer firemen scheduled their annual fair June 2-6 at a special meeting Sunday at the fire station.

Ray Bryan was named general chairman of the fair. He will appoint committees later. Bryan, Sherman Williams and Guy Michaels will direct preparing the fair grounds.

A contract was signed with the Heck Amusement Co. for rides for the fair. Tickets now are available from firemen at reduced prices.

Plans were made for a fire drill to be held Thursday at 6 p. m. Okey Leaisure, president, was in charge. Nomination of officers will be held at the next meeting May 7.

Ticket Sales To Open Friday For Jaycee Post-Prom Event

Tickets for the Junior Chamber of Commerce post-prom party following the annual dance at East Liverpool High School May 15 will go on sale Friday at the school, George Hales, chairman, said today.

The tickets are being printed this week and will be available from members of the Student Council. They are $3 a couple to help defray the cost of the affair, he said.

Arrangements for professional entertainment, a theater party and food were made at a committee meeting Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce office. Hales pointed out the party is held annually to help keep the students off the highways and out of night clubs following the dance.

More students attended the party last year than attended the prom. All high school students and their dates may attend the party, while only juniors and seniors may attend the dance.

The students will be chaperoned the entire time, he said. Plans call for the students to attend a feature picture at the Ceramic Theater at the conclusion of the dance. They then will return to the Memorial Auditorium, where they will be fed.

Two professional musical acts have been obtained through a Pittsburgh booking agency. The students themselves help select the entertainment. Dancing will be held to recorded music.

Death Takes Soft Drink Head, Husband Of Joan Crawford

NEW YORK (AP) — Soft-drink magnate Alfred N. Steele, husband of actress Joan Crawford, is dead at 57. He died in his sleep of a heart attack early Sunday at their lavish penthouse, just off Fifth Ave.

Miss Crawford found him dead in bed about 9:30 a.m. He had gone to bed around midnight, commenting he felt unusually tired. Miss Crawford was placed under a physician's care.

In 10 years with Pepsi-Cola, Steele introduced radical changes that tripled sales. He was board chairman and executive officer of Pepsi-Cola at his death.

Steele and Miss Crawford eloped in May 1955. She described their marriage as more exciting than some of her screen roles. It was his third and her fourth.

After the marriage, Joan, now 51, dropped her career and shared his life as a busy executive. "Ours is a husband and wife team," she said. She once estimated they had flown 125,000 miles around the world.

Steele was born in Nashville, Tenn., and attended Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Steele would have been 58 Friday. He had just finished a whirlwind six-week business trip with Joan, and they were to leave today on a 10-day vacation to Jamaica.

Additions Usually Call For Heating

CHICAGO — Nine out of 10 home expansion projects planned by home owners require new or expanded heating.

Modernization experts say that 60 per cent of home owners who have "growing pains" need extra sleeping quarters, frequently a master bedroom with a bathroom. Another 15 per cent want additional play or leisure space and 25 per cent want additional living space for general use.

All of these additions usually call for heating.

HOW DOES the cramped home owner find new space and how is the new space heated?

Most favored methods of expanding, say the experts, are finishing off an attic, enclosing a patio, breezeway, or carport, converting a garage, or adding a new room to the house.

The families with a hydronic heating system are usually in a fortunate position because it is relatively simple to expand the heat distributing system to take on the additional space. Hot water heating plants are flexible and most boilers have sufficient reserve capacity to take care of the extra load.

Whether or not the present heating plant will be able to heat one or more additional rooms can be determined only after a careful survey of the system and the house by an experienced heating and piping contractor. Most contractors are glad to make such a survey without charge, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out.

Whether the additional room can be heated with pipe coils or if it would be preferable to heat it with radiators, convectors, or baseboard, depends on the circumstances. The advise of the heating contractor will be available this point.

WHAT THE new bathroom, model 1959, is wearing was shown by the colorful displays of leading manufacturers of plumbing fixtures at the exposition of the Nation Association of Home Builders in Chicago recently.

Shown for the first time were such innovations in plumbing fixtures and fittings as a bathtub which fits the contour of the human body, a lavatory in which the bowl is off center thus providing an abundance of flat space, lavatories with oval bowls, and many new types of faucets, including several of the single lever type.

Old - timers at the show commented on the unusual number of new designs in faucets and drain controls. Several manufacturers showed new lines of faucets which differed in the interior working parts as well as the exterior from previous fittings.

More attention is being given by manufacturers to providing faucets with long - lasting interior working parts, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

While some faucets operate with a single lever, others have adapted the same operating principle to a round handle which is easily fitted to control temperature and volume of water.

Manufacturers pointed out that all the innovations in faucets and lavatories are based on careful time studies and observations of many users of fixtures and fittings.

One manufacturer showed a waste control which operates electrically by the touch of a finger. The same type of electrical control was shown for use with water closets. The closet is flushed by the touch of a button.

ANOTHER innovation in the field of plumbing fixtures shown in Chicago for the first time was a lavatory and water closet in delicately speckled pattern.

Vanity lavatories were featured by all manufacturers. Some of the exhibits reflected the trend toward the integral slab, that is, lavatory flat space made of vitreous china like the bowl. One manufacturer showed twin lavatories sunk in a flat surface made of vitreous china in a color matching the bowl.

In the field of bathroom accessories, medicine cabinets were on display equipped with a safety chest to keep dangerous substances out of reach of small children.

Center of attention in the heating exhibits were new designs in compact, packaged boilers so small that they can be tucked away in an attic, clothes closet, kitchen, garage, or utility room. Because of their low height, the packaged boilers can be used to line up with appliances either in the laundry, utility room, or kitchen.

Both oil - fired and gas - fired packaged boilers were shown along with heating baseboard, convectors, and pipe coil panels.

Sheet Steel Orders Drop

CLEVELAND (AP) — New orders for sheet steel have fallen off sharply because buyers realize they have no chance of getting first-half delivery, "Steel" magazine reported today.

But the placing of orders for sheets in the third quarter is light, with "entries few and far between," the weekly journal of metalworking said.

The delay in placing orders would seem to reflect uncertainty that heavy business by consumer goods industries will hold throughout the latter part of the year.

"Steel" predicted sales of home laundry equipment may come close to the 1956 record of six million units, against slightly more than five million in 1958. First quarter auto output was up 30 per cent from a year ago. And sales of radio and television sets are running ahead of 1958.

Last week all 12 producing districts operated at 92 or more per cent of capacity, and the national rate of 93½ per cent meant a record weekly high production of 2,647,000 tons of steel for ingots and castings.

The last time steelmakers ran furnaces at 93 per cent was in March 1957. At that time they paid $48 a ton for prime grade scrap, "Steel" said, but last week the magazine's composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade fell to $34.67 a ton, down $1.50 from the previous week. Mills are reducing scrap inventories, using more pig iron, getting big tonnages on private contracts and turning out a lot of home scrap, "Steel" explained.

$500 Reward Offered For Satellite Capsule

OSLO, Norway (AP)—A $500 reward was offered today to any civilian finding the container ejected from the Discoverer II satellite. The capsule is believed to have fallen in the Spitsbergen islands north of Norway.

The U.S. Embassy announced the reward, offered by the Lockheed Aircraft Co., makers of the Discoverer.

The search for the little container in the extensive arctic wastes of Spitsbergen and the surrounding sea and ice got under way last Friday. Nine American sea rescue planes and two Norwegian helicopters are taking part.

Additions Usually Call For Heating

CHICAGO — Nine out of 10 home expansion projects planned by home owners require new or expanded heating.

Modernization experts say that 60 per cent of home owners who have "growing pains" need extra sleeping quarters, frequently a master bedroom with a bathroom. Another 15 per cent want additional play or leisure space and 25 per cent want additional living space for general use.

All of these additions usually call for heating.

HOW DOES the cramped home owner find new space and how is the new space heated?

Most favored methods of expanding, say the experts, are finishing off an attic, enclosing a patio, breezeway, or carport, converting a garage, or adding a new room to the house.

The families with a hydronic heating system are usually in a fortunate position because it is relatively simple to expand the heat distributing system to take on the additional space. Hot water heating plants are flexible and most boilers have sufficient reserve capacity to take care of the extra load.

Whether or not the present heating plant will be able to heat one or more additional rooms can be determined only after a careful survey of the system and the house by an experienced heating and piping contractor. Most contractors are glad to make such a survey without charge, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out.

Whether the additional room can be heated with pipe coils or if it would be preferable to heat it with radiators, convectors, or baseboard, depends on the circumstances. The advise of the heating contractor will be available this point.

WHAT THE new bathroom, model 1959, is wearing was shown by the colorful displays of leading manufacturers of plumbing fixtures at the exposition of the Nation Association of Home Builders in Chicago recently.

Shown for the first time were such innovations in plumbing fixtures and fittings as a bathtub which fits the contour of the human body, a lavatory in which the bowl is off center thus providing an abundance of flat space, lavatories with oval bowls, and many new types of faucets, including several of the single lever type.

Old - timers at the show commented on the unusual number of new designs in faucets and drain controls. Several manufacturers showed new lines of faucets which differed in the interior working parts as well as the exterior from previous fittings.

More attention is being given by manufacturers to providing faucets with long - lasting interior working parts, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

While some faucets operate with a single lever, others have adapted the same operating principle to a round handle which is easily fitted to control temperature and volume of water.

Manufacturers pointed out that all the innovations in faucets and lavatories are based on careful time studies and observations of many users of fixtures and fittings.

One manufacturer showed a waste control which operates electrically by the touch of a finger. The same type of electrical control was shown for use with water closets. The closet is flushed by the touch of a button.

ANOTHER innovation in the field of plumbing fixtures shown in Chicago for the first time was a lavatory and water closet in delicately speckled pattern.

Vanity lavatories were featured by all manufacturers. Some of the exhibits reflected the trend toward the integral slab, that is, lavatory flat space made of vitreous china like the bowl. One manufacturer showed twin lavatories sunk in a flat surface made of vitreous china in a color matching the bowl.

In the field of bathroom accessories, medicine cabinets were on display equipped with a safety chest to keep dangerous substances out of reach of small children.

Center of attention in the heating exhibits were new designs in compact, packaged boilers so small that they can be tucked away in an attic, clothes closet, kitchen, garage, or utility room. Because of their low height, the packaged boilers can be used to line up with appliances either in the laundry, utility room, or kitchen.

Both oil - fired and gas - fired packaged boilers were shown along with heating baseboard, convectors, and pipe coil panels.

Sheet Steel Orders Drop

CLEVELAND (AP) — New orders for sheet steel have fallen off sharply because buyers realize they have no chance of getting first-half delivery, "Steel" magazine reported today.

But the placing of orders for sheets in the third quarter is light, with "entries few and far between," the weekly journal of metalworking said.

The delay in placing orders would seem to reflect uncertainty that heavy business by consumer goods industries will hold throughout the latter part of the year.

"Steel" predicted sales of home laundry equipment may come close to the 1956 record of six million units, against slightly more than five million in 1958. First quarter auto output was up 30 per cent from a year ago. And sales of radio and television sets are running ahead of 1958.

Last week all 12 producing districts operated at 92 or more per cent of capacity, and the national rate of 93½ per cent meant a record weekly high production of 2,647,000 tons of steel for ingots and castings.

The last time steelmakers ran furnaces at 93 per cent was in March 1957. Some Tips When Building A Patio

By ANDREW C. LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Building a patio with natural stone slate or flagstone is a reasonably inexpensive way to add to your home's usefulness, appearance and resale value.

There are two methods for building a patio — wet and dry construction.

The former uses a concrete - setting bed and the latter a sand-setting bed. Advantages of the wet method are cement joints, more durability, cleaning ease and the fact that the patio can be built above ground level.

Advantages of the dry method are lower cost, less work and skill required for the building and the fact that grass can be grown between the slate or flagstone pieces.

IN THE WET construction system, the materials needed are crushed stone or cinders, form boards, two wooden stakes for each corner, sand, cement and nails.

The form boards should be 1 by 10 inches or 1 by 12 inches, depending on the thickness of the stone used and long enough to enclose the patio perimeter. Correct board width can be estimated on the basis of 9 inches plus the thickness of the stone.

Excavate an area slightly larger than the patio with a shovel. Its depth should be below the frost line, usually about 10 inches.

Put the form boards in place so that they completely enclose the patio area and their top edges are even and level with the top of the proposed patio. Next, secure them firmly with the wood stakes about 16 inches from the corners.

Fill the excavation with crushed stone or cinders to a point within 4 inches, plus the flagstone's thickness, of the top. Rake this material level, wet it down and tamp it firm.

For the concrete, either buy the ready - mixed type that requires only the addition of water or mix your own — using three parts of sand and one part of cement.

Pour the mixture over the tamped stone or cinders to within one inch, plus the flagstone's thickness, of the top. Finish reasonably level with the rake.

ALLOW THE concrete to set for 48 hours. Thoroughly mix dry three or four parts of sand to one part of cement. Add only enough water to hold the mix together. Spread this over the concrete slab to within ¼ inch of the top of the form, approximately two square feet at a time, and dust with dry cement.

Butter the bottom side of each slate or flagstone piece with a mixture of pure cement and water and put it firmly in place. Tamp with a wooden block to insure the bond.

For fast, sure results, it's advisable to lay out the entire flagstone or slate pattern alongside the concrete slab. Starting at one corner, work away from it so that you won't have to kneel on the stones already set. A true board or mason's level will help establish a level surface for the finished patio.

Immediately sponge off any excess cement that oozes out over the stone surface. After a 48-hour period, any cement adhering to the stone will have to be washed off with a solution consisting of 95 per cent water and 5 per cent muriatic acid.

In the dry construction method, the materials needed are sand, 1 by 10 boards, wood stakes and nails. Excavate the ground to a depth of 6 inches and set up the form boards as in the wet method.

Wet and tamp the earth at the bottom of the excavated area. Fill to within ½ inch of the top of the form with a sand - earth mix, leveling with the rake. Set each flagstone or slate piece in place and tamp with a wood block until level.

Bella's Two-Base Rap Drives In Winning Run

CLEVELAND (AP) — The last time the Cleveland Indians opened a season with six straight wins as they did this year, was 1948. They finished that season by winning the World Series.

Manager Joe Gordon isn't guessing where this year's Indians will end up, but he says they've developed a winning complex.

"They come to the ball park thinking they're going to win," he said. "It was that way when I played for the Yankees. We always thought we'd win."

That winning feeling wasn't enough Sunday as the Tribe lost its first game of the season 4-3 to the Kansas City Athletics.

Cleveland was only one out away from a seventh straight victory when pinch hitter Zeke Bella of the A's rapped a three-run double off lefty Herb Score.

Until the ninth, the Indians had led 2-0. Score had allowed only two hits, had struck out nine and walked two.

Bill Tuttle opened the Kansas City ninth with a homer. Singles by Hector Lopez and Roger Maris and a walk by Hal Smith loaded the bases.

With two out and a 2-2 count on Bella, Score fired a fast ball. Bella connected for a solid two-base hit down the left field line.

Woody Held rapped a homer off Ray Herbert in the Indians' half of the ninth, but that wasn't enough. Herbert gave up seven hits to win in his first start of the season. Score allowed six hits and was charged with his first loss. His record is 1-1.

Minnie Minoso brought home Cleveland's first run in the third with a single. Carroll Hardy, who had walked and stolen second, scored from second.

In the fourth, singles by Rocky Colavito and Vic Power and a sacrifice fly by George Strickland produced a run. Strickland failed to hit for the first time in seven games.

Cal McLish starts against Detroit Tuesday. The Indians are off today.

Field Of 160 In Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — A Japanese runner who wasn't going to show up, a detective from Finland and consistent Johnny Kelley of Groton, Conn., today shared the favorite roles in the 63rd annual Boston A.A. Marathon.

A field of 197, trimmed to about 160 after physical examinations, was ready for a noon takeoff from the starting line in suburban Hopkinton for the pavement grind over the classic 26-mile, 385-yard distance to the Back Bay area of Boston.

Nobuyoshi Sadanga, 30-year-old spinning mill worker and senior member of Japan's three man delegation, drew strong support in the race.

Kelley, the 28-year-old schoolteacher, has finished 2-1-2 in the three previous BAA races. His '57 triumph provided a course record of 2:20:05.

Karvonen placed second in '53 and '57 as well as winning in '54 here. In 30 marathons, Karvonen never has finished worse than sixth.

Robinson Sets Pace In Reds' 12-5 Victory

Antonelli 3-0 After Victory Over St. Louis

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco finally is getting a look at the real Johnny Antonelli, the man who must win and win big if the Giants are to jolt Milwaukee loose from the National League pennant.

A year ago Seals Stadium fans must have been wondering if it was true what they read about Johnny. He didn't win a game until April 26 and he didn't grab his third until May 18. He struggled around .500 until midseason and finally wound up at 16-13.

This is a new year and a new Antonelli. The 29-year-old lefthander from Rochester, N.Y. boasts a shiny 3-0 record. He scattered eight hits Sunday while pitching the Giants to a 3-1 victory over St. Louis.

Los Angeles stuck on the heels of the Giants by scoring five in the eighth inning to beat Chicago 8-3.

Johnny Podres, who usually does his best in the Coliseum, recovered from a miserable start and threw a four-hitter at the Cubs for his first victory.

Duke Snider finally came through with his first homer of the year, moving into 10th place on the all-time list. It was his 332nd homer, moving him ahead of Hank Greenberg on the role of select sluggers.

Cincinnati's power-packed lineup did a little slugging at Crosley Field, burying the Phillies 12-5 despite some unsteady pitching by rookie Jim O'Toole. After the rookie had walked seven, Manager Mayo Smith brought in Bob Mabe to take over in the fifth. Mabe allowed only two hits in 4 2-3 innings.

Frank Robinson continued his slugging spree, knocking in four runs with a homer and a single. It was his third home run of the season.

Milwaukee had to postpone its scheduled game with Pittsburgh because of cold weather and a threat of rain.

Jim Davenport led the Giants attack with three singles in a perfect day at bat. He now has five straight singles. On his last time up, he was hit by a pitched ball thrown by loser Larry Jackson. Willie Mays knocked in two runs, scoring Davenport twice.

Podres and Dave Hillman were locked in a 3-3 tie when the Dodgers broke loose in the eighth. Wally Moon's single drove in the first two runs. Junior Gilliam, Snider, Don Demeter and Charley Neal also singled in the big inning.

Havana Star Gets Fifth Home Run In International

By The Associated Press

The Havana Sugar Kings' Tony Gonzalez isn't wasting any time learning about this year's International League pitching. He already has banged out five home runs and driven in 11 in the first seven games.

Sunday, he broke a 1-1 tie with the Montreal Royals with a grand slam home run that gave the Kings a 6-2 nightcap victory. Montreal won the opener on Mike Brumley's homer, 1-0.

Columbus and Buffalo split a slugfest, with Buffalo taking the opener 10-9 and Columbus the nightcap 15-14. Rochester won two from Richmond, 8-3 and 3-1, and Miami swept Toronto 6-2 and 6-5.

Purdue Freshman Whips Davis In Brilliant Runs

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fans are still buzzing today about a young Purdue sprinter who outran Olympic champion Glenn Davis in two stirring duels here Saturday.

The action came in the 17th annual Ohio relays when Dave Mills, a 19-year-old speedster from Lakewood, Ohio, whipped the former Ohio State great in the 400 meters and the 300-yard dash.

Mills, only a freshman, needed a spectacular stretch finish to nip Davis in the 300-yard match. He won both races by five yards.

The two Buckeye athletes are likely to create quite a stir when they battle again this weekend at the Drake relays.

Davis, who now does his running for the Ohio Track Club, paid tribute to the speedy Boilermaker after his two setbacks.

"Mills is a great runner," Glenn said, "but I'll catch him . . . soon."

Mills, returning the compliment, had this comment:

"To me, Glenn is still the greatest athlete.

"They may say Mills beat Davis today—but when Glenn gets in shape, a steam roller wouldn't stop him."

Another fine sprinter, Pitt's Mel Barnwell, had some nice things to say about both Davis and Mills.

"Mills is a good one. I've always admired Davis and to me Glenn didn't look in top shape. Don't worry, Glenn will take him."

Here's some other observations from track officials at the relays:

Homer Allen, official starter—"Davis is the greatest runner I have ever seen in 35 years, but if there is to be anyone who will surpass his marks, Mills can do it. He has more natural speed."

Ralph Paffenbarger, head judge—"Mills has great potential. He'll establish plenty of records."

Aside from the Mills-Davis duels, the spring classic produced only one record.

Ergas Leps, Michigan freshman, sped the 1,000-yard run in 2:11.3 seconds, erasing the mark of 2:12.8 set in 1955 by Bill Conrardy of the Chicago Track Club.

As expected, Michigan dominated the events, winning the 440-yard, the sprint medley, the two-mile, one-mile, and shuttle hurdle relays.

Former Detroit Prexy Is Little Loop Sponsor

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Walter (Spike) Briggs probably is the only former baseball president to go from the big leagues to the little leagues.

"And I love it," says Spike Briggs down in Lake Wales, Fla., where he sponsors a Little League team called the Briggs Imperials.

In October, 1956, Briggs was forced to sell the Detroit Tigers, Briggs Stadium and Detroit's farm team properties because inheritance tax on his late father's holdings would have made big league baseball a losing proposition.

He sold the Tigers for $5½ million to a group of 11 businessmen.

BRIGGS, vice president of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, still resides in Detroit but in the winter and spring he lives in Mountain Lake near Lake Wales where he has an automobile agency. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Daytona Speedway which drew 40,000 fans for a 500-mile automobile race in February.

Briggs had the Tigers five years. They failed to finish in the first division yet during that time he brought up such standouts as Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn, Frank Bolling, Frank Lary, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Billy Hoeft, and purchased Charlie Maxwell from Baltimore.

"It seems we never had the relief pitching," says Spike. "And we never really were able to get that big bat. This year the Tigers seem to half the relief pitching but they still seem to be lacking that one big home run hitter so necessary to compete with the Yankees."

Never one to second guess his manager—Red Rolfe, Fred Hutchinson or Bucky Harris — Spike has co-managers handle his Little Leaguers. They are Skeeter Smith and Carl Heath. However, Briggs permits them to second guess each other, but never in front of the players. Frank Contway, former Tiger traveling secretary, also works for Briggs.

"I still watch how the Tigers are doing but my big kick these days is our team in the six-team Little League. I hardly miss a game," says Briggs.

"Our boys lost the first half pennant by a half game last season. We had the title won until the ninth when one of our boys overthrew third base. In the second half we finished third."

The interview ended when Dr. A. J. Barranco, a surgeon and president of the Lake Wales Little League, stopped by and said:

"The new fence is up around the ball park."

"Great," said Spike. "We're about ready for the season."

Dick Linder Dies In Trenton Crash

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Dick Linder of Pittsburgh was killed in his hurtling racing car Sunday when he tried to avoid a pileup at the Trenton Speedway and crashed over the guard rail.

Linder's neck was broken as his $25,000 Indianapolis-type racer rolled over on the 58th lap. He was pronounced dead at a hospital.

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., won the 100-mile race which was shortened to 87 laps because of rain.

Malzone's 12th-Inning Homer Nips Yanks, 5-4

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the New York Yankees have another Zeke Bell to ship to their Kansas City "farm club," the Athletics will be glad to pay the freight.

Bella, shunted to the A's as part of the deal that brought Murry Dickson to Yankee Stadium last fall, came through with a big hit Sunday in Cleveland. The rookie's pinch double with the bases loaded knocked the Indians out of the unbeaten class and gave Kansas City a 4-3 victory.

Herb Score had pitched a terrific game for eight innings. The A's had been shut out with only two hits and trailed 2-0. Even Bill Tuttle's leadoff home run didn't seem too serious. However singles by Hector Lopez and Roger Maris, a walk to Hal Smith and Bella's double—driving in three runs—ended the Tribe's streak at six straight.

Frank Malzone, a boy from New York's Bronx who wound up with Boston, came through with a 12th inning home run off Ryne Duren for a 5-4 Red Sox decision over the Yankees.

Baltimore staged a wild rally, scoring six runs in the seventh for an opening 7-5 victory over Washington but the Senators came back to take the rain-delayed second 4-2 behind Russ Kemmerer. Cold weather postponed the Detroit at Chicago game.

Even in defeat, the Cleveland club managed to come up with a homer. Woody Held smashed his fifth of the year in the bottom of the ninth. Ray Herbert, making his first start, went all the way for the A's.

Enos Slaughter, soon to be 43, tied the score for the Yanks with a ninth inning homer at Fenway Park. The Red Sox, held to two hits after the third inning, got the big one when Malzone knocked Duren's 1-0 pitch into the left field screen in the 12th.

Gene Stephens hit a two-run homer off Johnny Kucks and Norm Siebern of the Yanks hammered an Ike Delock fast ball off the left field screen in the first for another homer.

The first game at Baltimore was a dilly. The tie-breaking run in the big seventh came when Dick Hyde hit Chico Carrasquel squarely on the top of the head with a pitch with the bases loaded. Twelve Orioles batted in the inning.

Carrasquel finished the first game and played part of the second game before he went to the hospital for a check. Kemmerer kept the Orioles under control in the second game while the Senators beat Jack Harshman on home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Jim Lemon.

Montreal Wins Stanley Cup After Stopping Toronto, 5-3

MONTREAL (AP)— Toe Blake, the most successful National Hockey League coach of all time, refused today to be pushed into a corner.

Blake has been the pilot of the Montreal Canadiens four years. Four years he has won the Stanley Cup.

Is this the best of all his teams?

"It's a great team," the 46-year-old Blake said. "But I can't honestly say this is the greatest of my Montreal teams. But these fellows are not ordinary players, either."

He refused to say which of his four Stanley Cup winners he considered the greatest.

The Canadiens won their fourth straight Stanley Cup—an unprecedented achievement — Saturday night when they turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3 to make the final series count, 4-1.

Blake singled out Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion as the big difference.

"Without him we might have been in trouble," said Blake, recalling that the Canadiens' two big guns, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Belliveau, both were sidelined with injuries.

Geoffrion scored two goals in the finale.

As a result of winning both the NHL race and the Stanley Cup, each Canadiens will be about $4,000 richer. The Leafs will collect $2,150 each.

Track Teams Await Relays At Delaware

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school track squads, the Mansfield relays now behind them, face another grueling test Saturday in the Ohio Wesleyan team relays at Delaware.

Unlike the Mansfield relays, won by Dayton Roosevelt, only team points are awarded in the Ohio Wesleyan affair.

In the Mansfield relays, Dave Raimey garnered one-fourth of all his team's points in leading Dayton Roosevelt to the championship.

Raimey contributed three points for third place in the broad jump and four points with a second place in the 180-yard low hurdles. He also ran the anchor lap for a winning performance in the shuttle relay.

Roosevelt's victory broke a three-year domination of the Mansfield relays title by out-of-state schools. Invading schools failed to place in the top three, although Flint, Mich., Central finished fourth with 13 points.

After Dayton Roosevelt, with 28 points, came Cleveland Glenville with 26 and Cleveland East Tech with 23½.

During the spring exhibition season in Florida, the world champion Yankees made 24 home runs to 10 for their rivals.

A's Pounce On Score In Ninth, Hand Tribe First Loss, 4-3

Bella's Two-Base Rap Drives In Winning Run

CLEVELAND (AP) — The last time the Cleveland Indians opened a season with six straight wins as they did this year, was 1948. They finished that season by winning the World Series.

Manager Joe Gordon isn't guessing where this year's Indians will end up, but he says they've developed a winning complex.

"They come to the ball park thinking they're going to win," he said. "It was that way when I played for the Yankees. We always thought we'd win."

That winning feeling wasn't enough Sunday as the Tribe lost its first game of the season 4-3 to the Kansas City Athletics.

Cleveland was only one out away from a seventh straight victory when pinch hitter Zeke Bella of the A's rapped a three-run double off lefty Herb Score.

Until the ninth, the Indians had led 2-0. Score had allowed only two hits, had struck out nine and walked two.

Bill Tuttle opened the Kansas City ninth with a homer. Singles by Hector Lopez and Roger Maris and a walk by Hal Smith loaded the bases.

With two out and a 2-2 count on Bella, Score fired a fast ball. Bella connected for a solid two-base hit down the left field line.

Woody Held rapped a homer off Ray Herbert in the Indians' half of the ninth, but that wasn't enough. Herbert gave up seven hits to win in his first start of the season. Score allowed six hits and was charged with his first loss. His record is 1-1.

Minnie Minoso brought home Cleveland's first run in the third with a single. Carroll Hardy, who had walked and stolen second, scored from second.

In the fourth, singles by Rocky Colavito and Vic Power and a sacrifice fly by George Strickland produced a run. Strickland failed to hit for the first time in seven games.

Cal McLish starts against Detroit Tuesday. The Indians are off today.

Field Of 160 In Marathon

BOSTON (AP) — A Japanese runner who wasn't going to show up, a detective from Finland and consistent Johnny Kelley of Groton, Conn., today shared the favorite roles in the 63rd annual Boston A.A. Marathon.

A field of 197, trimmed to about 160 after physical examinations, was ready for a noon takeoff from the starting line in suburban Hopkinton for the pavement grind over the classic 26-mile, 385-yard distance to the Back Bay area of Boston.

Nobuyoshi Sadanga, 30-year-old spinning mill worker and senior member of Japan's three man delegation, drew strong support in the race.

Kelley, the 28-year-old schoolteacher, has finished 2-1-2 in the three previous BAA races. His '57 triumph provided a course record of 2:20:05.

Karvonen placed second in '53 and '57 as well as winning in '54 here. In 30 marathons, Karvonen never has finished worse than sixth.

Antonelli 3-0 After Victory Over St. Louis

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco finally is getting a look at the real Johnny Antonelli, the man who must win and win big if the Giants are to jolt Milwaukee loose from the National League pennant.

A year ago Seals Stadium fans must have been wondering if it was true what they read about Johnny. He didn't win a game until April 26 and he didn't grab his third until May 18. He struggled around .500 until midseason and finally wound up at 16-13.

This is a new year and a new Antonelli. The 29-year-old lefthander from Rochester, N.Y. boasts a shiny 3-0 record. He scattered eight hits Sunday while pitching the Giants to a 3-1 victory over St. Louis.

Los Angeles stuck on the heels of the Giants by scoring five in the eighth inning to beat Chicago 8-3.

Johnny Podres, who usually does his best in the Coliseum, recovered from a miserable start and threw a four-hitter at the Cubs for his first victory.

Duke Snider finally came through with his first homer of the year, moving into 10th place on the all-time list. It was his 332nd homer, moving him ahead of Hank Greenberg on the role of select sluggers.

Cincinnati's power-packed lineup did a little slugging at Crosley Field, burying the Phillies 12-5 despite some unsteady pitching by rookie Jim O'Toole. After the rookie had walked seven, Manager Mayo Smith brought in Bob Mabe to take over in the fifth. Mabe allowed only two hits in 4 2-3 innings.

Frank Robinson continued his slugging spree, knocking in four runs with a homer and a single. It was his third home run of the season.

Milwaukee had to postpone its scheduled game with Pittsburgh because of cold weather and a threat of rain.

Jim Davenport led the Giants attack with three singles in a perfect day at bat. He now has five straight singles. On his last time up, he was hit by a pitched ball thrown by loser Larry Jackson. Willie Mays knocked in two runs, scoring Davenport twice.

Podres and Dave Hillman were locked in a 3-3 tie when the Dodgers broke loose in the eighth. Wally Moon's single drove in the first two runs. Junior Gilliam, Snider, Don Demeter and Charley Neal also singled in the big inning.

Havana Star Gets Fifth Home Run In International

By The Associated Press

The Havana Sugar Kings' Tony Gonzalez isn't wasting any time learning about this year's International League pitching. He already has banged out five home runs and driven in 11 in the first seven games.

Sunday, he broke a 1-1 tie with the Montreal Royals with a grand slam home run that gave the Kings a 6-2 nightcap victory. Montreal won the opener on Mike Brumley's homer, 1-0.

Columbus and Buffalo split a slugfest, with Buffalo taking the opener 10-9 and Columbus the nightcap 15-14. Rochester won two from Richmond, 8-3 and 3-1, and Miami swept Toronto 6-2 and 6-5.

Purdue Freshman Whips Davis In Brilliant Runs

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fans are still buzzing today about a young Purdue sprinter who outran Olympic champion Glenn Davis in two stirring duels here Saturday.

The action came in the 17th annual Ohio relays when Dave Mills, a 19-year-old speedster from Lakewood, Ohio, whipped the former Ohio State great in the 400 meters and the 300-yard dash.

Mills, only a freshman, needed a spectacular stretch finish to nip Davis in the 300-yard match. He won both races by five yards.

The two Buckeye athletes are likely to create quite a stir when they battle again this weekend at the Drake relays.

Davis, who now does his running for the Ohio Track Club, paid tribute to the speedy Boilermaker after his two setbacks.

"Mills is a great runner," Glenn said, "but I'll catch him . . . soon."

Mills, returning the compliment, had this comment:

"To me, Glenn is still the greatest athlete.

"They may say Mills beat Davis today—but when Glenn gets in shape, a steam roller wouldn't stop him."

Another fine sprinter, Pitt's Mel Barnwell, had some nice things to say about both Davis and Mills.

"Mills is a good one. I've always admired Davis and to me Glenn didn't look in top shape. Don't worry, Glenn will take him."

Here's some other observations from track officials at the relays:

Homer Allen, official starter—"Davis is the greatest runner I have ever seen in 35 years, but if there is to be anyone who will surpass his marks, Mills can do it. He has more natural speed."

Ralph Paffenbarger, head judge—"Mills has great potential. He'll establish plenty of records."

Aside from the Mills-Davis duels, the spring classic produced only one record.

Ergas Leps, Michigan freshman, sped the 1,000-yard run in 2:11.3 seconds, erasing the mark of 2:12.8 set in 1955 by Bill Conrardy of the Chicago Track Club.

As expected, Michigan dominated the events, winning the 440-yard, the sprint medley, the two-mile, one-mile, and shuttle hurdle relays.

Former Detroit Prexy Is Little Loop Sponsor

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Walter (Spike) Briggs probably is the only former baseball president to go from the big leagues to the little leagues.

"And I love it," says Spike Briggs down in Lake Wales, Fla., where he sponsors a Little League team called the Briggs Imperials.

In October, 1956, Briggs was forced to sell the Detroit Tigers, Briggs Stadium and Detroit's farm team properties because inheritance tax on his late father's holdings would have made big league baseball a losing proposition.

He sold the Tigers for $5½ million to a group of 11 businessmen.

BRIGGS, vice president of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, still resides in Detroit but in the winter and spring he lives in Mountain Lake near Lake Wales where he has an automobile agency. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Daytona Speedway which drew 40,000 fans for a 500-mile automobile race in February.

Briggs had the Tigers five years. They failed to finish in the first division yet during that time he brought up such standouts as Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn, Frank Bolling, Frank Lary, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Billy Hoeft, and purchased Charlie Maxwell from Baltimore.

"It seems we never had the relief pitching," says Spike. "And we never really were able to get that big bat. This year the Tigers seem to half the relief pitching but they still seem to be lacking that one big home run hitter so necessary to compete with the Yankees."

Never one to second guess his manager—Red Rolfe, Fred Hutchinson or Bucky Harris — Spike has co-managers handle his Little Leaguers. They are Skeeter Smith and Carl Heath. However, Briggs permits them to second guess each other, but never in front of the players. Frank Contway, former Tiger traveling secretary, also works for Briggs.

"I still watch how the Tigers are doing but my big kick these days is our team in the six-team Little League. I hardly miss a game," says Briggs.

"Our boys lost the first half pennant by a half game last season. We had the title won until the ninth when one of our boys overthrew third base. In the second half we finished third."

The interview ended when Dr. A. J. Barranco, a surgeon and president of the Lake Wales Little League, stopped by and said:

"The new fence is up around the ball park."

"Great," said Spike. "We're about ready for the season."

Dick Linder Dies In Trenton Crash

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Dick Linder of Pittsburgh was killed in his hurtling racing car Sunday when he tried to avoid a pileup at the Trenton Speedway and crashed over the guard rail.

Linder's neck was broken as his $25,000 Indianapolis-type racer rolled over on the 58th lap. He was pronounced dead at a hospital.

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., won the 100-mile race which was shortened to 87 laps because of rain.

Malzone's 12th-Inning Homer Nips Yanks, 5-4

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the New York Yankees have another Zeke Bell to ship to their Kansas City "farm club," the Athletics will be glad to pay the freight.

Bella, shunted to the A's as part of the deal that brought Murry Dickson to Yankee Stadium last fall, came through with a big hit Sunday in Cleveland. The rookie's pinch double with the bases loaded knocked the Indians out of the unbeaten class and gave Kansas City a 4-3 victory.

Herb Score had pitched a terrific game for eight innings. The A's had been shut out with only two hits and trailed 2-0. Even Bill Tuttle's leadoff home run didn't seem too serious. However singles by Hector Lopez and Roger Maris, a walk to Hal Smith and Bella's double—driving in three runs—ended the Tribe's streak at six straight.

Frank Malzone, a boy from New York's Bronx who wound up with Boston, came through with a 12th inning home run off Ryne Duren for a 5-4 Red Sox decision over the Yankees.

Baltimore staged a wild rally, scoring six runs in the seventh for an opening 7-5 victory over Washington but the Senators came back to take the rain-delayed second 4-2 behind Russ Kemmerer. Cold weather postponed the Detroit at Chicago game.

Even in defeat, the Cleveland club managed to come up with a homer. Woody Held smashed his fifth of the year in the bottom of the ninth. Ray Herbert, making his first start, went all the way for the A's.

Enos Slaughter, soon to be 43, tied the score for the Yanks with a ninth inning homer at Fenway Park. The Red Sox, held to two hits after the third inning, got the big one when Malzone knocked Duren's 1-0 pitch into the left field screen in the 12th.

Gene Stephens hit a two-run homer off Johnny Kucks and Norm Siebern of the Yanks hammered an Ike Delock fast ball off the left field screen in the first for another homer.

The first game at Baltimore was a dilly. The tie-breaking run in the big seventh came when Dick Hyde hit Chico Carrasquel squarely on the top of the head with a pitch with the bases loaded. Twelve Orioles batted in the inning.

Carrasquel finished the first game and played part of the second game before he went to the hospital for a check. Kemmerer kept the Orioles under control in the second game while the Senators beat Jack Harshman on home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Jim Lemon.

Montreal Wins Stanley Cup After Stopping Toronto, 5-3

MONTREAL (AP)— Toe Blake, the most successful National Hockey League coach of all time, refused today to be pushed into a corner.

Blake has been the pilot of the Montreal Canadiens four years. Four years he has won the Stanley Cup.

Is this the best of all his teams?

"It's a great team," the 46-year-old Blake said. "But I can't honestly say this is the greatest of my Montreal teams. But these fellows are not ordinary players, either."

He refused to say which of his four Stanley Cup winners he considered the greatest.

The Canadiens won their fourth straight Stanley Cup—an unprecedented achievement — Saturday night when they turned back the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3 to make the final series count, 4-1.

Blake singled out Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion as the big difference.

"Without him we might have been in trouble," said Blake, recalling that the Canadiens' two big guns, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Belliveau, both were sidelined with injuries.

Geoffrion scored two goals in the finale.

As a result of winning both the NHL race and the Stanley Cup, each Canadiens will be about $4,000 richer. The Leafs will collect $2,150 each.

Track Teams Await Relays At Delaware

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school track squads, the Mansfield relays now behind them, face another grueling test Saturday in the Ohio Wesleyan team relays at Delaware.

Unlike the Mansfield relays, won by Dayton Roosevelt, only team points are awarded in the Ohio Wesleyan affair.

In the Mansfield relays, Dave Raimey garnered one-fourth of all his team's points in leading Dayton Roosevelt to the championship.

Raimey contributed three points for third place in the broad jump and four points with a second place in the 180-yard low hurdles. He also ran the anchor lap for a winning performance in the shuttle relay.

Roosevelt's victory broke a three-year domination of the Mansfield relays title by out-of-state schools. Invading schools failed to place in the top three, although Flint, Mich., Central finished fourth with 13 points.

After Dayton Roosevelt, with 28 points, came Cleveland Glenville with 26 and Cleveland East Tech with 23½.

During the spring exhibition season in Florida, the world champion Yankees made 24 home runs to 10 for their rivals.

Truman Missouri Birthplace Dedicated As Public Shrine

LAMAR, Mo. (AP) — "It's like being buried and dug up while you're still alive."

That was former President Harry S. Truman's comment Sunday when the little house in which he was born was dedicated as a public shrine.

"I'm glad they dug me up," Truman added with a grin.

He told a cheering crowd of 2,000 that usually "they don't do this to former presidents until they have been dead 15 years."

Truman, who will be 75 May 8, said he was overwhelmed by the tribute.

The six-room, white frame cottage was bought by the United Auto Workers Union for $6,000 and given to the state of Missouri. The deed was handed to Gov. James T. Blair by Leonard Woodcock, UAW international vice president.

The State Park Board has restored the house, furnished it in period style and opened it to the public.

Truman was only 11 months old when his parents moved from Lamar to a farm in Jackson County near Kansas City. But that makes no difference to the residents of Lamar, a town of 4,000 population 122 miles south of Kansas City.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) agreed with them in his dedication speech.

"Starting today,", Symington said, "people will come to Lamar to study the beginnings of this man's life. All can learn that greatness can be bred in humble surroundings. All can learn of the American ideal of progress by ability."

Even if Truman never had been president he would be worthy of note, Symington said.

"Because his life and character have been a mirror of America."

Jesuit Educator Dies

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)— The Rev. Francis P. Donnelly, 89, a leading Jesuit educator, died Saturday. He was a former professor of rhetoric and classics at Fordham University and also had taught at Boston and Holy Cross colleges. He was born in Pittston, Pa.

Harry Shane New Grange President

Harry Shane was elected master to succeed Carl McCormick, who recently resigned, at a meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday evening in the Grange Hall.

Harry Lutton, lecturer, resigned, and Mrs. Chester Elliott was elected to succeed him. Both new officers will be installed at the next meeting May 7.

Plans were made to sponsor a public dance tonight at the Grange Hall. Plans were aired for a public card party April 25 to benefit the Cancer fund will be held in the Grange Hall.

Four members were winners Wednesday during competition at the Frankfort Grange. They were Mrs. James Buchanan Jr. sewing; Mrs. Elliott, cake baking; Mrs. Brooks Searight, rolls, and Mrs. Thomas Glenn, cookies.

The four will compete April 29 at the Center Grange in county contests of the Pomona Grange.
